INVESTIGATE THEFT AT NORMAL SCHOOL

The state department of education today undertook an investigation of the theft committed in the State Normal school on Broadway some time between Friday night and Saturday morning after the building had been entered by means as yet undetermined. With the assistance of the local police and the authorities of the town throughout the commonwealth the education department is confident the culprits will soon be apprehended.

Principal Clarence M. Weed this afternoon stated that George H. Varney, business agent for the Massachusetts department of education, had visited the school and obtained all the detailed information on the theft preparatory to wide search and investigation which is to be made even more rigid than the hunt that has been going on heretofore owing to school robberies committed in many cities and towns of the state.

Mr. Varney expressed an opinion that the local break and larceny was perpetrated by the same gang that has been operating throughout the commonwealth and told the principal that a robbery committed two months ago in the Westfield Normal school which he had investigated, and was still working on, had been performed in exactly the same way as the one here Friday night or early Saturday morning.

The business agent of the education department of the state further said that only last Thursday a school in Lynn was broken into and robbed, undoubtedly by an organized gang which is making a practice of robbing schools throughout the state.

Principal Weed this afternoon told the Sun that the police are in possession of a clue, left behind by the thieves, which will prove of great value to the authorities in running down the alleged miscreants. The amount taken from the safe was close to $100, he stated, and added that nothing else was touched, although there were valuable papers and a large amount of stamps in compartments of the safe. That the intruders gained admittance to the building by means of a skeleton key is the opinion of the school authorities, as no windows in the building were broken or tampered with. The tools, which the safe combination lock was pried open, were obtained from a chest in the basement and were the property of the engineer of the building.

FIRE FOLLOWS TRAIN CRASH

Two Passenger Trains Collide Head-on, 16 Miles From Philadelphia

Wreckage Took Fire and Several Persons Were Burned to Death—9 to 12 Die

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—A head-on collision of local passenger trains on the Newton branch of the Philadelphia & Reading railway between Woodmont and Paper Mill stations, 16 miles from Philadelphia today, resulted in the death, it is believed, of nine to 12 persons and the injury of more than a score of others. A snow storm practically cut off wire communication with the scene of the wreck.

The collision occurred on a single track in a deep cut. The wreckage took fire and early reports were that a number of persons were burned to death.

CHINESE ADMIRAL WENT TO SCHOOL HERE

Admiral Tsai Ting-Kan, China's senior adviser at the armament conference and regarded as the foremost possibility for the presidency of his country, lived in Lowell and obtained most of his early education here at the Lowell grammar and high schools while preparing to enter Yale college.

Few old-timers interviewed by The Sun this morning could recall the present admiral, then known as plain Ting-Kan. It is said that during his school days here, however, the man who may some day be president of South China was popularly known as "Tin Can" about the playgrounds.

At the high school offices this morning Head Master Henry H. Harris told The Sun that the old school records back in the years running from 1872 to 1876, were being carefully searched, and the exact dates of Ting-Kan's entrance and departure from the local educational facilities will be found, undoubtedly.

Admiral Tsai-Kan is now 62 years old. He was but 17 when he took up his last year's studies here before leaving for Yale and a great future career. He was first given a start in American school curriculum at Hartford, Conn., about a year before coming to this city.

He had been one of a picked lot of 120 Chinese, young men of "noble birth," to be sent over here as the first batch of students in the care of Ting Wing, then the Chinese minister at Washington, D. C. With the fall of the old Chinese regime, the young student found himself compelled to return to China to continue his studies there. He entered the Chinese Naval school in Hankow, and then attended the Royal British Naval college in Greenwich, England.

The admiral has been getting a good reception wherever he has traveled in New England, but it is not likely that he will be able to come to Lowell. An interviewer in Boston got the Chinese leader to say the following: "I can only say that I am very grateful for your hospitality, courtesy and sympathy. I lived with Daniel Webster's nephew in Lowell, Mass., in 1874, and went to school with Mary Buckley, daughter of the former governor of Connecticut. Massachusetts cities on this visit impressed me and in some respects reminded me of the features of our own cities in China. It was a pleasure to meet Gen. Edwards and Admiral Cleave, whom I had known intimately in Peking."

JUROR APPEARS WITH BLACK EYE

Resumption of Trial of Negroes at New Bedford Delayed by Absence of Juror

Later Arrived—Judge Questions Him Relative to Conspicuous Black Eye

NEW BEDFORD, Dec. 5.—The resumption of the trial of Benjamin Gomes, John Dies and Joseph Andrews for assault upon Miss Gertrude Butler was delayed slightly this morning by the absence of one of the jurors. The other eleven had been in their seats some time when John J. O'Brien of New Bedford, juror No. 12, came in hurriedly. It was noticed at once that he had a conspicuous black eye, and Judge Lummus called him to the bench to talk with him. What was said was not audible, but the juror illustrated his explanation by smacking his fist into the palm of his left hand. After making his explanation, he took his seat and the trial went on.

Benjamin F. Bourne, resuming his testimony, told of having followed the tracks of an automobile on the Collins Hill road over which Miss Butler said she was carried by her abductors. He followed the tracks to a point in the woods where an auto had apparently been turned around. Mr. Bourne said the tracks showed two kinds of tires, which he named, and that when he examined the Ford car alleged to have been stolen by the defendants the night of the assault, the tires on it corresponded with the tracks he had seen by them in their travels had used in the road.

The final case on the calendar, a non-support charge, provided startling testimony. Hazel, a second woman, referred to as "Hazel" of Malden, had come between husband and wife and wrecked a perfectly happy conjugal love, was vividly and trenchantly related by the wife of the defendant, a resident of a nearby town.

The witness stated that the "other woman" made it a daily early morning practice to come to the bedroom window of the accused and pass him a glass containing "something which she couldn't explain exactly what it was." She also told the court of seeing an automobile owned by "the woman" and related frequent visits made to her home by the defendant.

The witness further testified that her husband recently pleaded with her that she forgive him and that he "shared his heart" to her, confessing to her that the "other woman" had ruined his life. The defendant listened to the allegations of his wife in a very attentive manner and when she finished he ascended the witness stand. He denied that "Hazel" brought him the drinks mentioned in the testimony that he used the Malden woman's automobile.

Answering questions of the court the defendant said the car was the property of "the woman" and that he used it frequently.

Judge Enright lectured and flayed the defendant and after imposing a five months' suspended sentence to him that just a little bit more of "this Hazel business" will find him bound for the Cambridge institution with no chance to appeal the sentence. The man's wife, following her volume of testimony, asked the justice that he do not send him to jail, although she admitted having given him chances before.

SEARCHING FOR RELATIVES
In an effort to locate relatives of the late Charles H. Sutherland, a weaver employed at the Tremont & Suffolk mills, found dead in his room at 726 Suffolk street, as result of gas asphyxiation Saturday afternoon, Undertaker H. C. Brown, who has charge of the remains, today appealed to the police departments of Boston and Worcester to aid him in the search. Through some unexplained channel Mr. Brown heard that the deceased had a wife, two or three children and his mother living in South Boston and also a sister living in Worcester, but as yet has heard nothing of a definite nature. Mr. Sutherland's death was pronounced by Medical Examiner Smith to have been caused by accidental gas poisoning.

MILK INSPECTOR BUSY
Inspector of Milk and Vinegar Melvin F. Master is busily employed just now in his office, in city hall tower, in an attempt to catch up with his clerical work, which has been accumulating during the busy months of the summer and autumn. Mr. Master says that at this time of year he generally devotes himself to this work, in order to get his annual report ready for public presentation soon after the beginning of the new year. This entails considerable statistical labor and the inspector is on the job from morning to night. Very few samples are taken at this season compared to the summer's work, but Mr. Master's assistant, John J. Coughlin, is taking good care of this detail.

HOSTILITIES ARE NOT EXPECTED

Dail Eireann Expected to Return Finally to Ireland Tomorrow or Wednesday

Government Blames Sinn Fein for Failure to Reach Agreement

LONDON, Dec. 5. (By the Associated Press)—The Irish peace negotiations have broken down, according to statements in responsible quarters today, and the Dail Eireann delegates are expected to return finally to Ireland Tuesday or Wednesday. The correspondence in connection with the negotiations will be made public by the government, it was said.

LATE JAMES COFFEY WAS WELL KNOWN HERE

The news of the sudden death in Worcester late last week of James C. Coffey, aged 63, for many years executive officer of the Worcester board of health, and ex-chairman of the state board of plumbing examiners, was received at city hall in Lowell today, when Agent Francis J. O'Hara received formal notice from a Worcester friend. No Lowell official was able to attend the funeral services, which were held this morning from St. Paul's church at 9 o'clock. Members of Worcester city council attended the funeral in a body.

The late health officer was well known in Lowell and was a frequent visitor at the health board's offices in city hall. At one time he was president of the Massachusetts association of boards of health. He was recognized as one of the most efficient health officers in New England.

His duties as one of the examiners on the state board of plumbing called him to Lowell twice a year and sometimes longer, and he always spent several days here on each trip, making many friends in the city and especially in the municipal building.

Mr. Coffey was for many years a personal friend of Agent O'Hara, a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Washington club. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Miss Grace Coffey and Mrs. Maurice P. Cunningham. He was born in Worcester, Nov. 11, 1858.

POLITICS AND RELIGION

Sermon by Rev. Dr. Fisher at
First Universalist Church
—Begins 27th Year

"Politics and religion ought to go hand in hand," declared Rev. Caleb B. Fisher, D.D., yesterday in the First Universalist church, beginning the 27th year of his leadership of that parish by delivering a stirring sermon that touched upon many problems of the times.

"I have heard men standing on street corners in Lowell making 'good promises' to the pastor, and then was going to free Ireland; another was going to make a disruption between England and America; another was going to take off all the one-man runs in the city; another was going to shut up all the rum shops in Lowell and all the gambling houses; and then the pastor was waiting for that hat, bow tie and smiler. I sometimes play humankind."

The sermon also reviewed briefly the pastor's work in Lowell during the past 26 years. At the close of the service Dr. Fisher asked those who were there when he preached his first sermon as leader of the church, to stand up. Twenty-seven men and women responded.

In his address of reminiscence and greeting, Dr. Fisher said in part:

"In a long pastorate there are advantages and disadvantages. The friendships formed go down deep, but I sometimes feel that when a pastor has stayed as long as I have in the city of Lowell, it might be better if a new voice were heard. You know, sometimes we hear the old voice so often that it becomes lackluster."

"What does the church stand for? There are those who believe that it stands merely for social life, for a kind of church because they like the minister. I sometimes think that some people think that the minister is a supernatural being, out of the ordinary conditions of life. I sometimes think of the caricatures of the minister upon the moving picture screen. Now, I haven't any wishes and I don't expect to have any. I am just an ordinary man in the community. The church of God is its own enemy. The enemies are not outside; they are the men within who are always trying to criticize. The meanest man in the world is the man who gets mad at his church."

"If the church of God stands for anything, it stands for worship of a supreme being. If I belonged to a church nobody could drive me out simply because they do not speak to me."

The pastor said many of his old Lowell friends had passed out during the past 26 years, and he has believed many of them away. "I wonder if there were not some things that 'eye hath not seen nor ear heard,' what we should do!"

"Twenty-six years of golden sunshine, twenty-six years of good-byes and greetings; I ask you to come to worship God."

EMERGENCY SITUATION HAS PASSED

The emergency situation no longer exists, according to a communication received by Commissioner of Streets Murphy from the civil service commission and starting today he has been instructed to employ no men other than those certified on the weekly list supplied by the civil service authorities.

This morning the street department yard was jammed with men seeking employment, but neither the commissioner nor his superintendent could do anything for them as they are compelled to abide by the ruling of the commission. They must do their best with their regular force to finish the work of snow removal on the many streets of the city which are still in a very poor condition, including a number of side streets in the downtown section and most of the streets in the residential districts.

MISS LAGYETER HONORED

Miss Julia Lagyeter, a prominent member of the clerical staff of First C. Church, who on Dec. 11, will become the bride of Mr. Aloysius Green, a well known young man of this city, was tendered a most pleasant shower at the home of Miss Blanche Gervais, 3 White street, Saturday evening. The affair was attended by about 25 employees of the church, who best wishes, also made her the recipient of numerous appropriate gifts.

The home was handsomely decorated for the occasion with potted plants and flowers and the guests were regaled with dainty refreshments. In the course of the evening a variety of enjoyable entertainment was given, those participating being Miss Lucille Roussel, Miss Mildred Hunter and Miss Mildred Bean. Light refreshments were served. The affair was in charge of Misses Blanche Gervais and Lucille Roussel.

THE LEAGUE OF CATHOLIC WOMEN

One of the busiest organizations in Lowell at the present time is the League of Catholic Women. Every body hears from time to time reports of their monthly meetings, which are given wide publicity because of the many excellent lectures and musical programs presented at these gatherings throughout the winter season. Comparatively few, however, know of the vast amount of self-improvement work performed by the members.

At the present time several classes in useful, everyday, skilled craftsmanship are being carried on, with gratifying success. Three classes in millinery are making marked progress under the supervision of Mrs. J. Daly. Classes in arts and crafts, with Mrs. K. T. Sparks as an instructor, are meeting with general favor, and a class in knitting and crocheting has recently been added. A dress-making class, under the direction of Miss E. E. Kivlin, has attracted many members.

In addition to the classes there is a choral club, with Mrs. J. T. Donohue as director and Mrs. Joseph Green as choral leader. This has become one of the league's best features, and is expected to have a prominent part in the cantata to be given this month. The league orchestra, directed by Miss Marie J. O'Donnell, is a very capable, and the Mandolin-Guitar club, made up of studies in the mandolin's extent. The title club is under the direction of Mr. Joseph Handley.

The quarters of the league in the Harrington building are open daily, with Mrs. Helen Quinn in charge, and are admirably equipped for the members' diversion; the members and their friends find abundance of reading material on hand, or may spend their time in resting themselves after a shopping tour. If they are not in the mood for "other" entertainment, Miss Mary D. Long, the league treasurer, is to be found at the quarters on Saturdays, to receive membership fees, and during the week Mrs. Quinn is at all times ready to look after this important detail.

TO PRESENT PLAYS IN PARISH HOUSE

In "Suppressed Desire" Alice Chase, Barbara Brown and Cyrus Woodman will take part. Miss Harriet Coburn and Allan Dumas have directed the dramatic work.

The members of the property committee in charge of the affair are as follows: Elizabeth Talbot, Leslie Hyman, John Walecott, Hammond Barnes and Henry Levy and the members of the costume committee are: Elizabeth Whittey, Vera Owen, Eleanor Whittey, Elizabeth Talbot and Helene Howarth.

Adventures of the Twins

A GAME

"SO YOU LIKE TO PLAY 'TRUTH, BERT' HE WAS SAYING

When I told you that the "Land of Underneath" was a beautiful place, I forgot about Gnome village. Gnome village was not beautiful—it was ugly. The streets were narrow and hilly and dark; the houses were ugly and crooked and mean, and the gnomes themselves were far from lovely. The Twins thought they had never seen such long, long noses anywhere before in their lives. They decided to find Kip right away, if they could, and return at once to Brownland to help Mr. Pin Pin. They had almost forgotten about the little fellow who had unlocked the gate and let them in.

But his rough little voice reminded them now. "So you like to play 'truth, eh?' he was saying, and then Nancy remembered that he had asked them about it when they were still in the passage.

Some other gnomes came crowding up, curious to see the strangers, but they had also heard the word "truth" and that meant fun. Not that they liked to tell the truth, dear no, but they liked to hear other folks' secrets. The first gnome spoke again. "Everybody sit down in a circle, please."

So Nancy and Nick and all the gnomes sat down in a circle with their knees crossed. Nick thought that perhaps he ought to wish both of them out of that, for it looked like a waste of time to be playing a silly game of "truth" with the gnomes. Instead of hunting for Kip, and getting the key to the Enchanted Cyclopedia that he had stolen from Pin Pin, Poor Mr. Pin Pin had been in Brownland waiting, and waiting and waiting and waiting, and here they were!

But after all, perhaps it was best to wait a little and be patient. Nick was only a little boy, but he had very good sense.

"You begin," said the first gnome, nodding at Nancy.

Big Cleanup of Streets and Parks Staged By Park Dept. Sunday

SCENE ON SOUTH COMMON SUNDAY MORNING

Although about 140 men, a squad of tree climbers and about 40 teams were put to work by the park department yesterday morning, Supt. Kernan found that he still had about 150 applicants left. About 25 of these were put to work gathering brush on the commons and placing it in piles to be removed later on by the teams, and the others were regrettably sent away since their services were not required.

As the result of the day's work, the greater part of the debris scattered about the city by the recent storm has been cleared away, and the electric light and telephone companies will be materially aided in restoring their service to parts of the city which have been most severely affected by the recent storm.

About 80 ex-service men and 25 squad of health teams were contributed by Mayor Thompson to assist in the work. Many others of the unemployed offered their services, but it was impossible to find places for all of them.

The tree-climbing squad worked ahead of the others, cutting down limbs and branches which were still clinging precariously to the trees. The ability and activity of these men was noteworthy, and they escaped serious injury from live wires and other menaces only by exercising the greatest care.

The service men, who were guaranteed to the mayor by Curtis Garrity and John J. Walsh, officers of the American Legion, showed their gratitude for the opportunity to earn a day's pay during the unemployment period by working earnestly and intelligently and proved of great assistance to the regular force of the park department. Superintendent John W. Kernan was in charge of the day's activities.

It was announced at all masses yesterday that the Christmas sale, which was held last week under the auspices of the St. Michael's Charity guild, would be continued Thursday afternoon and evening, as it was felt that many of those who wished to attend the sale were kept from doing so by the inclement weather. ## Portland Votes on Double-Platoon

PORTLAND, Me., Dec. 5.—A referendum on the adoption of a two-platoon system for the fire department whereby permanent firemen would be divided into day and night shifts, was held at the annual municipal election today. Carroll S. Chaplin was the republican candidate to succeed Mayor Charles B. Clarke, now completing his fourth term. His democratic opponent was Harry E. Nixon, acting judge of the municipal court, who featured the fact in his political advertising that he began his career as a newsboy and hoolblack. The republicans claimed they would carry seven of the nine wards, but the democrats did not concede as many. Miss Elsie Clark Nutt, the only candidate for the city council on the republican ticket, was nominated in ward 4, a democratic stronghold.

Charged With Auto Larceny

night. It is claimed by the police that the auto was taken to Billerica and abandoned in a partly dismantled condition, in Cook street yesterday. Investigation by Officers Livingston and O'Connor of the Billerica police resulted in the apprehension of the three Somerville youths shortly after in Dorchest. According to their story they were visiting a friend at a camp there and denied having any connection with the alleged larceny. They told the police that they were searching for the camp when arrested. It is the suspicion of the authorities that the men are not only connected with this larceny, but may also be implicated in other automobile thefts reported of late in Greater Boston. Somerville, Boston and Billerica police are now investigating and have as a clue, according to the Billerica officers, a license plate registered to a Somerville man which is said to have been thrown away by one of the arrested men when taken by the police.

The heavy bail fixed by the court, at the request of Constable Livingston, was not furnished.

The Mayor and City Finances

THE MAYOR is the responsible financial officer of the City of Lowell under the new charter.

THE MAYOR will prepare and submit the budget to the Council of fifteen members.

THE MAYOR can make or break the city on the kind of judgment he exercises in handling the financial affairs of this municipal corporation.

THE MAYOR will be paid a salary of $5000 for managing a seven million dollar corporation.

When the Municipal Council sat as a Committee on Appropriations last year, I initiated a slashing reduction of departmental estimates by reducing the estimates of my own departments $77,000 and at the same time I insisted upon substantial reductions in other departments based on materials and supplies without cutting wages one cent.

The present tax rate would have been much higher had I not insisted that these reductions should be made.

During my administrations of the past four years a city note has never gone to protest and at no time has the city's credit been impaired.

Signed,

ELKS HONOR THEIR DEAD

Lowell Lodge Holds Impressive Memorial Services at Opera House

Eulogy by Hon. John F. Malley of Springfield—Musical Numbers

"The faults of our brothers we write upon the sands; their virtues upon tablets of love and memory."

These simple words tell better than anything else the feeling Elks have for one another, which were exemplified last night by the Opera House when Lowell lodge, No. 67, B.P.O. Elks, held memorial service for the departed members of its order. To those who never before witnessed an Elks' memorial service, the memory will be a lasting one; an example of how a great fraternal order, once a year, pays public tribute to its dead.

When the officers of the order filed from the rear of the theatre to their semi-circle of seats on the stage, every seat in the hall was filled, the crowd banking the aisles in the rear of orchestra circle. The altars of the order had been transferred from the lodge rooms and were placed upon the stage in replica of their positions in the lodge room. In the center of the platform was placed an altar covered with the American flag, one of the symbols of the order. Opened upon the flag lay the bible and upon this book of prayer was placed the antlers, the visible symbol of the organization. Suspended above the altar was a blazing red star, the significance being the star of fidelity, one of the four chief precepts of the Elks. Beside this altar stood a candelabrum with 12 lighted candles, each flickering light a memory to a member of the local lodge who died during the past year. At each altar on the stage was placed a large bouquet of flowers.

Like in Tribute

To the strains of Chopin's Funeral March the officers filed to the stage and took their places. As the last strains died away the 200 or more members of the local lodge, grouped in the center of the orchestra circle, rose from their seats at the command of Exalted Ruler Samuel Scott.

The opening ceremonies were conducted by the members of the lodge, who explained the purpose of the gathering and when the Elks' memorial service, Mendelssohn's "Male" quartet, composed of Harry N. Patten, Charles Howard, Harry Pascall and Harry C. Needham, rendered "My Master and My Friend."

The roll call which followed was the most impressive part of the entire ceremony. Every light in the hall was extinguished save the star of fidelity. At the command of the exalted ruler, Secretary John J. Lee, a past exalted ruler, stepped to the altar and called the roll of the dead. As each name was called a bugle sounded taps. As the last strains died away, one candle was extinguished. Each brother departed during the year was remembered in this manner. The departed included: Charles J. Moore, Charles E. Hall, Martin W. Halloran, Howard D. Wright, Louis A. Lovering, Wilfred Cognac, John H. Burns, Thomas F. Holman, John J. Murphy, John F. Kinsella, Louis F. Day and Clarence G. Colburn.

Then sounded the tolling of the eleven strokes. As the last stroke tolled, a massive clock with the hands pointed to the hour of eleven was lowered from the stage gridiron. It was then explained the hour of eleven was sacred to an Elks. It was the time during the day he paused in reflection of his absent brothers.

The officers then conducted a part of the service in which three different flowers were placed upon the centre altar. First came the placing of the forget-me-not, symbolizing the everlasting memory of the order, then the amaranth, an imaginary flower never supposed to fade, symbolizing immortality, and lastly, the clinging ivy, tokening brotherly love.

Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, of the First Universalist church, led a prayer, after which the quartet sang, "Lead and Keep Me."

Eulogy Delivered

The eulogy was delivered by Hon. John F. Malley of Springfield lodge, No. 51. The speaker first carried his audience to the historic city of Boston, to the banks of the placid Charles river and spoke of the different personalities who could not from its shores to tell how the country was first formed and of the little group of men who made history at Bunker Hill.

Through the Boston public gardens to the statue of George Washington, who himself is an example of unselfishness. He dwelt upon the veterans of the Spanish war and on the unknown soldier dead, all in an effort to bring out unselfishness, a symbol of the Elks' order.

The speaker said that at the present time there were over 1400 different Elks' lodges with a membership of one million men, all striving to do their utmost for the country. He told of the work the order does at Christmas, how it helped the Salvation Army during the war and how it built, equipped and turned over hospitals to the government.

In conclusion, he addressed the Elks personally and asked that they be true to their vows and live according to the teachings of Elksdom, to ever practice brotherly love and make their lives a living example of all that was good and honorable.

The program in its entirety was as follows: "Funeral".....F. Chopin Orchestra

DID HOUSEWORK IN WHEEL CHAIR CRIPPLED WITH RHEUMATISM

Winthrop Woman Now Walks and Claims Recovery Due to Weldonia

"I am now able to do my work walking about after being confined to a wheel chair by rheumatism," said Mrs. L. M. Grundy, who lives at 294 River street, Winthrop, Mass. She continued: "I suffered for five years from rheumatism. My knees were sore and stiff and I had to be lifted in and out of the chair and bring on a paroxysm. I was treated by physicians who did everything they could, but they failed to benefit me."

"I had heard a great deal about Weldonia, and thought I would give it a trial. I had not taken Weldonia more than a month before I was able to help myself and by continuing the treatment I am able to get about the house without my wheel chair and now do my housework without any assistance whatever. I had often seen letters recommending Weldonia, and wondered if they were true; now I

"THE BEST I CAN SAY FOR TANLAC ISN'T HALF GOOD ENOUGH," DECLARES BUSINESS MAN

"The best I can say for Tanlac isn't half as good as it deserves," said Arthur F. Moore, 66 Hammond St., Roxbury, Mass. Mr. Moore is in the bakery business, and is well known and highly respected.

"For the past year I suffered from indigestion so bad I was actually afraid to eat, knowing only too well the agony it would cause me afterwards. It was formed on my stomach and worked up and my heart which it seemed at times as if I would choke, and mere words can't express the torture I endured. I was so nervous I just trembled all over, my sleep was broken, and many times it was as late as three or four o'clock in the morning before I ever got a wink of sleep. My troubles ran me down until I was so weak it was a big effort to look after my business."

"Seeing in the papers how Tanlac had helped others, I decided to try it, and I want to say I would pay twenty-five dollars a bottle for this medicine than be without it when I feel like I need it. Why, it is simply wonderful the way it has fixed me up. My stomach trouble is gone and my appetite is so good I can hardly wait for meal time, and everything agrees with me and I sleep good and sound all night. I just feel like a new man, and Tanlac gets all the credit for my recovery."

How To Revitalize Wornout Exhausted Nerves

Your nerve power depends on plenty of good, rich, red blood of the kind that organic iron—Nuxated Iron—helps make. Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on iron filings, and over iron does not infuse the teeth nor upset the stomach. It is an entirely different thing from ordinary metallic iron. It quickly helps make rich, red blood, revitalizes wornout nerves, and gives you new strength and energy. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using it. Beware of substitutes. Always insist upon having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. ## Former German Emperor to Marry Again

BERLIN, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—According to the Zwölfuhrblatt former Emperor William has decided to marry again. The lady of his choice, the newspaper says, is the widow of a high officer from Danzig, who was killed in the war. The newspaper professes to have received the information from a most trustworthy source.

TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF COL. WHITTLESEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—In a simple service, half religious, half military, more than a thousand people last night paid tribute to the memory of Lieut. Col. Charles W. Whittlesey, commander of the famous "lost battalion" of the Argonne, who disappeared from a vessel bound for Havana a week ago yesterday.

"His death was a battle casualty as much in the line of duty as if he had fallen by a German bullet. The scars of conflict or the wounds of battle are not always on the flesh. We of the regular army have seen too often the results of mental strain."

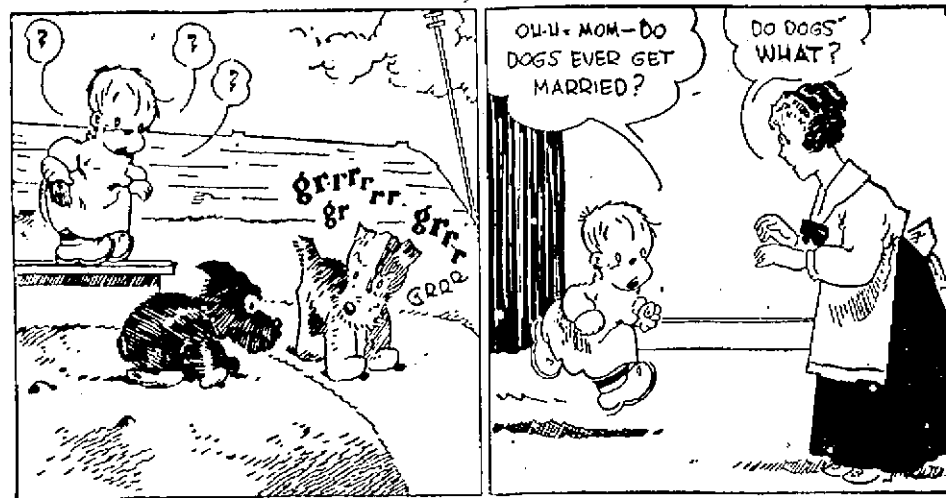

Such, with a few words to illustrate Col. Whittlesey's sensitive nature, which he said shrank from the harrowing remembrances of the events in which he had played so heroic a part, was the eulogy of one of the former officer's brothers-in-arms, Col. Nathan K. Averhill, commander of the 335th Infantry.

He told of how Col. Whittlesey, coming from the quiet, scholastic life of a city lawyer, was thrown at once into the thick of the fighting in France, how he won fame by telling his German would-be captors to "go to hell," and of the emotional torture he endured while watching his men slowly perish from hunger, thirst and their wounds. Continuation of the same mental suffering since the end of the war through ministering to suffering survivors, he said, hastened the breakdown that led to final self-destruction.

Frank Whittlesey, war hero's father and Melzer Whittlesey, his brother, were among those who attended the memorial services, held in the first regimental army. Officers were representatives of veterans' organizations and college societies and former acquaintances.

the mail service and in saving our great government millions of dollars a year that is now wasted because of our carelessness—yours and mine.

Every day that you drop a letter in the mail box 10,000,000 other letters are already pushing and jamming through the postal machinery. One letter a day for each family of five persons in the United States is given to Uncle Sam to deliver.

When you send a parcel to the post office for mailing any day there are about 8,000,000 other parcels ahead of yours pushing and jamming through the postal machinery. This is in ordinary days, at Christmas time it is multiplied many times.

One family in about every ten puts a badly addressed letter in the mail every day. This mixes up over 2,000,000 half addressed letters with the 20,000,000 fully addressed letters. That means that the fully addressed letters must wait on the slow moving, poorly addressed letters just like the large boys and girls are delayed by a bunch of "bad kids" lagging along.

You boys and girls can help the postal service and save your father some money, because he has to help pay the cost of searching addresses on letters and parcels sent out by this one careless and thoughtless family in every ten.

First find out if your family is the careless one, then bear in mind that your letters must be handled by skilled mail distributors standing in post-offices and on swerving postal cars of a mile-a-minute mail trains, often under poor light.

The address on every letter, card or package must be correct, complete, and legible, including the house number and name of street, and the "From" address should be in the upper left-hand corner so that the mail will be returned to you in case it is not delivered. Do not abbreviate names of States because so many look alike when abbreviated.

Put the proper amount of postage on your letters and wrap the parcels carefully. Avoid fancy writing, which causes postoffice clerks and letter carriers to stop and study and thus lose time. Make the address plain and easy to read, and always use pen and ink or typewriter and light-colored envelopes, so as to save the eyes of the postoffice clerks. Do not use envelopes of unusual size. The little ones that are so frequently used for cards and notes at Christmas and other holiday times cause an untold amount of trouble and labor, as they will not fit our cancelling machines and must therefore be cancelled by hand, because of their size and tendency to slip out of a package, these small envelopes are more likely to be overlooked or lost.

Mailing your letters and packages early in the day, because this avoids overloading and delaying mail at the end of the day.

Your local postmaster and your teachers will tell you more about the postal service.

Do these things, and you will win the grateful appreciation of the people in your postoffice and especially of your Postmaster General.

WILLIE H. HAYS.

P. S.—Don't forget to mail Christmas packages this week.

MAIL YOUR CHRISTMAS PARCELS THIS WEEK

The following letter from Postmaster General Hays has been received here by Postmaster Nathan. The postmaster-general requested that the message be presented to the school authorities and read in the public schools Monday. The superintendent of schools has promised that the letter shall be read in the schools as requested. The letter:

Christmas is almost here. Your great postoffice department has a big job ahead and needs your help. Think what it means to be Santa Claus to our 100,000,000 people and to deliver Christmas parcels to every family in this great country within the short space of a few days and without disappointment.

It can be done, and we're going to do it if we may have your help. I want to enlist the active assistance of every boy and girl in the schools of our country in getting parcels mailed this week to relieve the rush that comes directly before Christmas.

Will you go home today and take this message to your parents and friends: "Our postmaster has asked us to mail our Christmas parcels this week, for unless we do, Uncle Sam's load may be so heavy the last few days before Christmas that he won't be able to deliver all the presents by Christmas eve."

The parcels must be well wrapped and tied and addressed plainly in order that they may arrive in good condition with their Christmas appearance unspoiled. You can put on your packages, "Do not open until Christmas."

And, there must be a number on your house and a mail receptacle, too, for if there isn't, Santa Claus' messenger, your letter carrier, may not be able to find the house where the present belongs.

There are some other things, too, in which you can all assist in improving

Beautiful and Talented But Doesn't Think She Knows It All

MARGALLO GILMORE

BY ALICE ROHR

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—"If you could interview me ten years from now, I might have some philosophy of the stage, of attainment, of youth."

A frank-eyed, lovely girl sat in her theater dressing room, putting on her make-up to go on in one of the new plays, parts ever entrusted to an actress not yet 20, that of Lilian Carmody in "The Straw."

She was Margallo Gilmore, of whom the knowing are prone to talk about not only to her great future but also her great present.

"Youth is rather a difficult thing for a young person to philosophize about," she said, "indeed, I appreciate—oh, so much—all the kind things people say about my work and I do feel a deep gratitude, but I have so far to go before I really arrive."

Margallo Gilmore doesn't think she knows it all. She is simple, direct, earnest, eager to learn and study the best.

Cause of Confusion

"Really, when we step to think," she continued, "it is all a bit confusing. Isn't it? Here I am playing a role of an 18-year-old girl and I hear people say that only a woman of 40 could play it. I suppose that is why we have so few Juliets."

"I wonder if some day young actresses will have enough technique and youth to portray adequately the parts they look."

"I am glad I live in this era," she said, seriously. "Really, it is wonderful to be young and have the chances we have today. But you see I just can't philosophize—I suppose it's the same with youth as with anything else—one doesn't quite get the fullest appreciation while passing through an experience."

Union Packing House Employees Strike

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Union Packing house employees at 15 packing centers in the Middle West went on strike today. The "big five" packers declared that the organized workers represented less than five per cent of the total number of employees while union leaders insisted that they had gained the support of more than half the workers. The strike was voted by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters & Butcher Workmen of North America after a wage reduction of approximately 10 per cent in all lines had been ordered by the packers. Two hundred extra policemen were assigned to the stockyards district here. The packers announced that they intended to fill immediately the places of all workers who failed to report.

"My trouble began with a rash which later turned to pimples. The pimples were quite large and of a reddish color, and were scattered all over my face, neck and forehead. The itching and burning were so severe that I could not help scratching. My face was disfigured for about a year."

"The trouble lasted about a year before I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They afforded relief within two weeks, and at the end of six weeks I was healed." (Signed) Clarence J. Burnell, 474 Tyler St., Pittsfield, Mass., Jan. 4, 1921.

Bomb Explosion Wrecks Detroit Building

DETROIT, Dec. 5.—A bomb explosion late last night wrecked a building on East High street, occupied by three commission houses. Police said they suspected it was the result of a blackhand feud. No one was injured. The firms occupying the building are Curro and Marchi, the Frank Wise Co., and the American Seed Co.

41 hours of deliberation the seven men and five women on the jury which tried Roscoe Arbuckle on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe was discharged yesterday when they were unable to agree upon a verdict.

The jury was brought into court at its own request at noon reported a disagreement and asked that it be discharged. The foreman announced that the final ballot stood 10 to 2 but did not say whether the majority favored conviction or acquittal.

Court officers said, however, that the balloting favored acquittal throughout. The case was set for retrial Jan. 2.

In a statement following the jury's return Arbuckle declared one of the five women jurors had prevented his acquittal "because she refused to allow her fellow jurors to discuss the evidence or reason with her and would not give any reason for her attitude." He did not name the juror.

District Attorney Brady said that Arbuckle had been given a "fair and honest trial" and complimented the jurors who held out for conviction as having "courage and determination." He was not in court when the jury reported.

Charges of perjury against Mrs. Minnie Neighbors of Los Angeles, a witness called by the defense at the trial also were set for hearing today.

In addition to all these, last night's intimidation by Milton Cohen, of Arbuckle's counsel, that the defense had "something up its sleeve" and was prepared to "let it come down" today came in for comment.

Sale of Christmas Seals
Continued

At least 2,000 letters with seals enclosed will be sent out. Public and parochial schools will be asked to help again this year.

A great deal of the revenue derived through the sale of the seals comes as the result of the work of the school children. About one-half of the total number of seals ordered will be sent to the schools.

Last year nearly one million seals were ordered and sent out by the council. A number of them were returned but the majority, realizing the good work of the council, returned either money or checks.

The letters this year contain anywhere from 50 to 200 seals, the price of each being but a penny. An appeal is made for the recipient to buy as many of the seals as he possibly is able.

allegiance contingent upon settlement, the most it offered being to "recognize" the king as head of the commonwealth of free nations.

The closest examination of the government's latest terms satisfied the Sinn Féin delegates and the Dail Eireann cabinet. It is asserted that they contained no advance on the terms of Premier George's original letter, which was formally rejected in July by Eamon de Valera in his speech to the Dail parliament. Two months of negotiations with Downing street had not got the Irish any further, it was argued, and according to well informed quarters some of the delegates were opposed even to the consideration of the new proposals by the Dail cabinet last Saturday, these delegates being satisfied that acceptance by the negotiators would not be endorsed by the Sinn Féin in Ireland.

It did not take the Dail cabinet long to decide the issue, it appears. After a short discussion in which all the cabinet members rejected the government's proposals, Mr. de Valera turned to the delegates and said:

"These are your instructions; they are the instructions of the people of Ireland."

The truce continues to exist until notice of its termination is formally given, and both the government and the Sinn Féin say they have no intention of giving that notice. Nevertheless, both sides feel it is declared, that the course of events will be bound to involve a renewal of hostilities.

Premier Sees King

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The crisis in the Irish peace negotiations held the exclusive attention of official circles today. ## They Say Business is Rotten

WE SAY BUSINESS IS WONDERFULLY GOOD

Last year was by far our biggest year's business. We had our big sale of the Greenwood stock to swell the totals.

And We Are Falling Behind Those Figures Only 15 Per Cent. and Prices of Furniture, Rugs, Etc., Are 30 Per Cent. to 40 Per Cent. Less Than Last Year.

SO THAT WE ARE ACTUALLY SELLING MORE GOODS—THERE IS A REASON

We were first to cut the price of Furniture, Rugs, Linoleum, Ranges, etc., to meet the new condition. We took our loss early and for months back we have been on a rock bottom basis in price; and by comparison, people who go around find our prices so much lower that they buy here.

HARVARD CLUB SHOW AT OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

The Harvard Dramatic club, which is to make its initial appearance in Lowell at the Opera House this evening for the benefit of the Radcliffe endowment fund, has had an interesting history. The club was founded in 1903 with Prof. George T. Baker, Harvard '87; Winthrop Ames, '95, the well known producer, who brought out Masterlinck's "Blue Bird"; and H. T. Parker, '99, dramatic critic of the Boston Transcript, as an advisory board. This year it is giving, under the direction of Mr. J. W. D. Seymour, '17, former president of the club who has coached it in recent years, two plays, "The Violins of Cremona" by Francois Coppee, translated into English by Edgar Scott, '20, and "The Witch's Mountain," taken from the Spanish of Julio Sanchez Gardol, the first Argentine play to be presented in this country.

During these fourteen years the club has gained recognition among art and literary critics in the east for the excellent work it has done along unusual lines. The production of "The Promised Land" by Allan Davis, '07, in 1908 under a policy of giving original plays, placed the club at the head of dramatic activities in the university. In the following years the club presented for the first time "The Scarecrow" by Percy Mackaye; "The Progress of Mrs. Alexander" by Miss Louise Rogers Stanwood, Radcliffe, '12; "Good News" by J. T. Ballard, '11, later a winner of the John Craig prize; "The Night Riders" by Edwin Cartwright, '13; "The God" by E. S. Hanch, '13; "The Four Flushers" by Cleves Kinkrad, later winner of the John Craig prize for "Common Clay"; and "The Florist Shop" by Winifred Hawkrigde of Radcliffe. All these plays have been successfully produced on the professional stage.

In 1910 because of the success of the newly created "47 Workshop," the dramatic club in order to avoid entrenchment on the more limited field of the new organization which only produced plays written in Professor Baker's class, English 47, changed its policy to that of producing foreign plays not previously presented in this country. Among these plays have been: "Rome and the Poet" by Lord Dunsany, the Irish playwright; "The Governor's Wife" by Jacinto Benavente, the author of "The Passion

THE AFFAIRS OF JANE

Flower," in which Nance O'Neill starred last year; "The Dragon" by Lady Gregory of the Irish national theatre; a Japanese "Noh" play, "The Blind" by Maeterlinck; and "Wozzeck" by A. A. Milne, editor of Punch.

Art and dramatic critics have accorded great praise to the organization for bringing to this country for the first time plays of such high and enduring excellence. In keeping with the character of the performance to be given here in Lowell, the Marian sodality, the famous college orchestra of twenty pieces, is to present the following musical program:

Sonata Number 11 for a String Trio
Corelli
Habaneera ..... Sanleban
Cuban Dance ..... Cervantes
Marche Hongroise ..... Berlioz
Marche Joyeuse ..... Chabrier
A Night in Spain ..... Massenet
Sobre La Plaza ..... Rollinson

The sets for these plays have been designed by D. M. O'Connell, '23, the art director of the club, who won the "The Governor's Wife" in 1919. Scenery and costumes have been designed and executed by the undergraduates, and the striking poster which is attracting attention here in the city was designed by H. K. Webber, '23.

The performance promises to be highly gratifying to the Lowell committee of the Radcliffe endowment fund, of which Miss Frances Masterman is chairman, both from a financial and social point of view.

CANDIDATES INDORSED BY G. G. A. OF BOSTON

BOSTON, Dec. 5.—The Good Government Association yesterday put its seal of approval officially upon the candidacy of John R. Murphy for mayor and the candidacies of Charles L. Carr, George F. Gilbooly and Richard E. Johnson for the city council.

It failed to indorse the candidacy of City Councillor John A. Donoghue, a leader of organized labor, for reelection. Donoghue was elected three years ago with the association's indorsement.

The indorsements are contained in the booklet which the association issues to its members and the newspapers before each city election.

DOING A WASHING IS FUN!

These Japanese girls, unlike other girls, like to help with the family wash. Here in the Tama-gawa river they splash and wade about as they cleanse the clothes by stamping upon them.

A. STORK REHEARSALS

Here, friends, we have that solemn old bird traditionally associated with population increase, caught by the camera during a private rehearsal before assuming the duty assigned him in nursery tales from time immemorial. A Stork's fellows, hovering in the background, seem to have in mind a drop in the census rate, judging by their apparent reluctance to join the rehearsal. Or it may be that they are simply protesting against being inveigled into this photographic stunt devised by the keeper of Selig's zoo in Los Angeles, where 20 of their kind are recent arrivals from Germany. That bundle A. Stork is dangling so expertly contains a life-size doll which presently will be added to some good little girl's nursery family—say along about Christmas time.

OXIDAZE

TABLETS
Made With Essential Oils
For
Politicians—Auctioneers
Clergymen—Lecturers
Singers

Anyone who speaks or sings in public whose voice is apt to grow husky or weak from the strain, will find that one Oxidaze tablet slowly dissolved in the mouth before speaking or singing, will make a world of difference.
The voice stays strong and clear and natural even during an unusual strain.
Thousands of people have testified
to the remarkable value of these pure essential oil tablets, which bring such
quick relief in cases of hoarseness,
loss of voice, soreness, or tickling
in throat, bronchitis, bronchial irritation, influenza, pneumonia, colds,
and as a preventive against grippe,
influenza and pneumonia.
One small, inexpensive package of "Oxidaze" tablets will quickly prove
the value of pure essential oil in cases
of this kind; if they are always kept readily at hand for use in case of an emergency, they may save you many days of serious illness or discomfort.
Lowell Pharmacy, Liggett's, Green's
Drug Store can supply you.—Adv.

IRENE CASTLE'S LATEST DANCE GOWN

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Clouds with
the sun shining on them, a fantasy
of chiffon and fur is this newest
dance gown of Irene Castle's.
The bodice, of blue cloth is fitted
just snugly enough to bring out exquisite lines while below a maze of
panels, points, and drapings of blue,
gray chiffon give distinctive character to the skirt.
Quite long is this skirt, with the uneven hem line.
It grows transparent as it nears
the ankles.
Green and yellow ribbons falling
gracefully at the front of the frock
add a touch of brilliant color.
Gray fox is the fur used.

"DANDERINE"

Grows Thick, Heavy Hair

35-cent Bottle Ends all Dandruff,
Stops Hair Coming Out

Ten minutes after using Danderine
you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp
will not itch, but what will please you
most will be after a few weeks' use,
when you see new hair, fine and downy
at first—yes, but really new hair—
growing all over the scalp. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation.
It goes right to the roots, invigorates,
and strengthens them, helping the hair
to grow long, strong and luxuriant.
One application of Danderine makes thin, lifeless, colorless hair look youth-fully bright, lustrous, and just twice
as abundant.—Adv.

Stomach Upset,
Gas, Gas, Gas
—"Diapepsin"

"Diapepsin" ends indigestion, heartburn in five minutes. Sour gassy, upset stomach, acidity, dyspepsia;
when the food you eat ferments into gases and stubborn lumps; your head aches and you feel sick and miserable, that's when you realize the quick magic of Diapepsin. If your stomach is in a continuous revolt—if you can't get it regulated, try Diapepsin.
It's so needless to have a bad stomach! Make your next meal a favorite food meal, then take a Diapepsin. There will not be any distress—no flatulence. It's because Diapepsin "really does" regulate weak, out-of-order stomachs that gives it its millions of sales annually.
Get a large quantity at case of Diapepsin from any drug store. It is the most efficient antacid known. It is scientific, harmless, and belongs in every home.—Adv.

EMPLOYMENT

FINED FOR GAMING ON THE LORD'S DAY

U. S. Employment Bureau Reports Lowell in "Em- ployment Decrease" Column

Majority of Cities in the State Show Increase in Employment

Of 65 cities reporting to the U. S. employment bureau in its industrial survey of the country's largest cities for the month ending Nov. 30, Lowell is reported in the "employment decrease" column, the percentage of decrease being 1.6.

Forty cities report employment increases and 24 cities decreases. The decrease in Lowell is 1.6, New Orleans 5.4, Brockton 6.5 and Boston 1.1.

The decrease in Lowell is not regarded as in any way an industrial setback for the city as only the 12 largest industries in the city are canvassed and a number of commerce officials said today and there might be a number of smaller mills or manufacturing places where additional employees have been put on pay rolls, which would not be figured in the survey of Lowell by the statisticians employed by the department of labor.

The employment increases show better conditions in Worcester, Fall River and New Bedford. Lawrence shows a slight increase of .56 and Springfield 1.05.

The monthly survey is based on actual figures taken from the larger industrial payrolls of the country, estimates and guess-work being eliminated. The statistics on which computations are based are gathered each month by the department's special agents in 65 principal industrial centers and transmitted by telegraph. In all 145 firms, each usually employing more than 5000 workers, or a total of 1,600,000 are comprised in the survey. On Nov. 30, these 145 firms had 7219 more employees on their payrolls than they carried on Oct. 31, an increase of .46.

Industrial classifications show increases in employment in paper and printing, lumber and its manufacture, vehicles for land transportation, iron and steel and their products, tobacco manufactures, chemical and allied metals and metal products other than iron and steel. The industries show a decrease in liquor and beverages, railroad repair shops, food and kindred supply products, leather and its finished products and miscellaneous industries.

The line of prosperity which started on an upward swing in August and September showed a tendency to recede during November. While iron and steel continued to add to its forces, industries as a whole remains inactive. Railroad repair shops let out about 5 per cent of their workers. Food and kindred products also made a heavy reduction, undergoing the usual seasonal slackness. Textiles remain steady. Other industries show little change, with the exception of the automobile industry, which apparently has recovered from its seasonal inertia, and is again adding to its forces.

Reports from 231 of the principal industrial centers clearly indicate that owing to seasonal and climatic conditions, unemployment is on the increase and there is a prospect of material change during the next three months. The most optimistic tone is that industry will hold the gain made in the past three months, but very little, if any, of the present unemployment will be absorbed before spring.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Fine of $150 for Illegal Keeping of Liquor—Other Cases

Joseph DeCaires, of Montclair avenue, pleaded guilty to a charge of illegally keeping intoxicating liquor and paid a fine of $150 in district court before Judge Enright today.

Charles Lallas offered a plea of not guilty to the same complaint and was given a continuance to Dec. 17 to enable the police to secure a state analysis of the liquor seized.

These arrangements were the aftermath of a busy week-end put in by the liquor squad under the direction of Sergt. Michael H. Winn. They claim that a quantity of moonshine was hidden beneath the floor and within partitions of a room on Montclair avenue said to have been supplied by DeCaires, when they raided the place Saturday evening. Besides the liquor the officers also took possession of a 50-gallon still, 20 barrels of mash and other liquor-making necessities.

Lallas' arrest took place in a Canal street house Saturday noon when the liquor officers appeared on the scene and found the defendant, according to their version, busily engaged about a moonshine distillery outfit. Here the police seized two stills aggregating a capacity of 10 gallons, 25 barrels of moonshine, 12 barrels of mash and other paraphernalia used in manufacturing the prohibited fluid.

Late Saturday night the officers visited a store on Market street and purchased a pint of moonshine from one Carlos Davis. They saw, when they arrested for making an illegal sale. He was not attracted to court today.

How one of a quintet of men surprised by the police while playing cards in the kitchen of a house in the rear of South street early yesterday morning is a tale of the week's largest and most colorful episode, was told by Officer Patrick Connolly and Joe Clark on the witness stand before Judge Enright in district court today. The defendants, charged with playing a game on the Lord's day, gave their names as Joseph Barboza, Frank Souza, Joseph Parinaka, Joseph Diarbo and Manuel Andrade, all of Lowell. They pleaded not guilty, but were at the best of the judge, that they should obtain counsel as they faced a grave charge, the men refused to have a lawyer and insisted that the case be tried today. The court found them guilty and imposed a $10 fine on each one, which they paid.

The judge, the officers stated, was the result of several complaints, the last one being valued Saturday night by another man who told the police he "had been in the game and lost." Two packs of cards and $2.49 in change, contained in a glass on the playing table, were seized and showed to the court during arraignment. The police could not tell the court who the owner of the house was and he was not in the rooms. Sunday morning, the officers said, one of the men, at the arrival of the police, fled into a bed room and leaped into bed. When he was placed under arrest he protested vigorously, the officers stated, claiming that he was suffering from bronchitis.

At the close of the case the question arose as to what disposition was to be made of the cards and the $2.49 seized in the raid. Finally the judge ordered the money to be turned over for court expenses, while the police kept the cards for "house use."

ACCOUNTS FILED

EXPENSE ACCOUNTS OF CANDIDATES AT THE CITY PRIMARIES CONTINUE TO ARRIVE AT THE ELECTION COMMISSION'S OFFICE. TEN OF THESE STATEMENTS WERE RECEIVED TODAY, BRINGING THE TOTAL TO 48. THE LATEST ACCOUNTS ARE AS FOLLOWS:

Edmund H. Murphy, printing and advertising, $21.50; Edward D. Smith, printing, advertising and photographing, $14.50; John J. Neeson, nothing; John J. O'Connell, printing, $20; John J. Townsend, printing, $20; Richard Lyons, nothing; Graham H. Whidden, printing and advertising, $1.50; John H. Hossa, printing and postage, $15.73; Edward M. Woodward, printing and advertising, $12.50; George W. Bartwell, printing and advertising, $22.22.

All the material for the election is now in the hands of the printer, and the commissioners state that at this election the principal officers will have no trouble in using the Currier system in counting the ballots, and expect early returns.

Numbering the candidates in each group and placing the family names first on the city election ballot are innovations which have brought general satisfaction to both candidates and voters, according to comment on the streets. In the council at large contest, where there are 12 candidates, and in the school committee group, with 13 candidates, many of the applicants who were among the less fortunate at Friday afternoon's drawing feared that their supporters might meet with difficulty in finding their names, but with the new regulations all such difficulty is eradicated.

At the funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth friend what his number is to be on the ballot, and the voters will look for their favorites either by number or by running down the column of family names, a much easier proceeding in the projected form. Voting will be a rapid process with the new improvements, it is expected.

Forecast of the three groups of circumstances attracting public interest was the charge made by Mrs. Helen M. Hubbard, one of the jurors, that attempts had been made to intimidate her.

"This is to certify that I have taken your Tekol Tablets and I find them to be a grand remedy. They have helped my rheumatism and heart greatly, and as a quick bronch I never saw their equal, and they are the best thing for headache I ever used. I would not be without them in the house for anything." C. E. KING, Middlebury, Vt.

"I am over 70 years of age, I have taken Tekol three months and it has done wonders in my case. It is the most invigorating, nerve-sustaining tonic ever produced. Two or three tablets on arising in the morning will reduce seventy to thirty in age inside of 20 minutes. It is the only medicine I have ever taken that will back up the claims of its originator."

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Babe Ruth's share of the world's series profits in 1921 were declared forfeited and Ruth himself suspended until May 20, 1922 by Commissioner K. M. Landis in a decision today, fixing punishment for the New York Yankee ball player for participating in a post-season barnstorming tour.

Ruth may apply for reinstatement on May 20, or within 10 days after that date, Commissioner Landis said. The 1922 baseball season starts about the middle of April so that Ruth will be prevented from participating in baseball for at least one month next season.

Bill Piercy, New York American pitcher, and Bob Meusel, the Yankee right fielder, were given the same punishment. They participated in the trip with Ruth.

The text of the decision follows: "These players were members of the New York American League team, a contestant for the world's championship in 1921. Immediately after that series, willfully and defiantly, they violated the rule forbidding their participation in exhibition games during the year in which that world's championship was decided.

"This rule was enacted in 1911, only after repeated acts of misconduct by world's series participants made its adoption imperative for the protection of the good name of the league."

"The rule was known to all players, and particularly to these men, upon one of whom a fine was imposed in 1918 for a violation.

"This situation involves not merely a rule violation, but rather a notorious defiance intended by the players to present the question: Which is the bigger—baseball, or any individual in baseball?"

"There will be an order forfeiting their share of the world's series funds and suspending them until May 20, 1922, on which date, and within 10 days thereafter they will be eligible to apply for reinstatement."

FOR QUADRUPLE ENTENTE

Draft as Substitute for Anglo-Japanese Alliance, Under Consideration

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The draft of a quadruple entente which would serve as a substitute for the Anglo-Japanese alliance, it was learned today from authoritative sources, is now under consideration by the governments of the United States, Great Britain, Japan and France.

This is said to explain the delay of the Japanese government in announcing its decision concerning the ratio of naval tonnage because it appears that as the problem of warship tonnage is connected with national policy, the two matters are being discussed together.

There was a growing impression today that if the entente can be worked out satisfactorily Japan would not insist upon her request for a 10 per cent. ratio of capital ships as against the 60 per cent. suggested in the American proposals.

The inclusion of France in the entente has attracted special interest. It has not been disclosed whether the terms of the proposed agreement would be of a nature to satisfy France with reference to her situation in Europe or whether the entente would merely be a regional accord affecting the far east.

It is understood that the draft of the entente has been prepared with special reference to the United States constitutional system, under which the senate has the treaty-making power.

FIRE FOLLOWS
TRAIN CRASH

Two Passenger Trains Collide
Head-on 16 Miles From Philadelphia

Wreckage Took Fire and Several Persons Were Burned to Death—9 to 12 Die

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—A head-on collision of local passenger trains on the Newton branch of the Philadelphia & Reading railway between Woodmont and Paper Mill stations, 16 miles from Philadelphia today, resulted in the death, it is believed, of nine to 12 persons and the injury of more than a score of others. A snow storm practically cut off wire communication with the scene of the wreck.

The collision occurred on a single track in a deep cut. The wreckage took fire and early reports were that a number of persons were burned to death.

JUROR APPEARS
WITH BLACK EYE

Resumption of Trial of Negroes at New Bedford Delayed by Absence of Juror

Later Arrived—Judge Questions Him Relative to Conspicuous Black Eye

NEW BEDFORD, Dec. 5.—The resumption of the trial of Benjamin Gomes, John Dies and Joseph Andrews for assault upon Miss Gertrude Butler was delayed slightly this morning by the absence of one of the jurors. The other eleven had been in their seats some time when John J. O'Brien of New Bedford, juror No. 12, came in hurriedly. It was noticed at once that he had a conspicuous black eye, and Judge Lammus called him to the bench to talk with him. What was said was not audible, but the juror illustrated his explanation by smacking his fist into the palm of his left hand. After making his explanation, he took his seat and the trial went on.

Benjamin F. Bourne, resuming his testimony, told of having followed the tracks of an automobile on the Collins Hill road over which Miss Butler said she was carried by her abductors. He followed the tracks to a point in the woods where an auto had apparently been turned around. Mr. Bourne said the tracks showed two kinds of tire, which he named, and that when he examined the Ford car alleged to have been stolen by the defendants the night of the assault, the tires on it corresponded with the tracks he and used by them in their travels had seen in the road.

London Announces Termination of Negotiations But Declares Truce in Ireland Still in EffectSinn Fein Delegates Confer With British Concerning Continuation of Truce

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The Sinn Fein delegates visited Downing street at 3 o'clock this afternoon. It is understood they conferred with the government representatives concerning continuation of the truce in Ireland. At 5 o'clock the Downing street conference was still in session. Ten was served the conferees at that hour. Several alternative plans for dealing with the situation from the point of view of drastic action against southern Ireland have been considered by the government. The first of these is a general proclamation of martial law all over Ireland and its administration under exclusive military control. A second plan is to establish a strict economic blockade of Ireland, refusing entry to goods including coal and essentials of manufacture and of comfort.

67th Congress Convenes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The 67th congress convened at noon today for its first regular session. Ten days only had elapsed since the adjournment of the extra session and it was generally predicted that the session convening today would not end until well into next summer.

Woman Alleged to Have Been Assaulted by Husband is on Dangers List

Informed by the police that Mrs. Catherine Emmett of 12 McGovern court was in a dangerous condition at St. John's hospital, Judge Enright in district court this morning ordered John T. Emmett, her husband, who is charged with assaulting her, held under $1000 bail to Dec. 12.

The authorities claim that Emmett got in a quarrel with his wife Saturday afternoon and during a lively tilt struck her over the head with a chair. She was removed to St. John's hospital, where her name was placed on the dangerous list.

It was stated that it had not yet been determined whether she had sustained a fracture of the skull, a blow having caused a severe laceration on her head, attendance at the hospital was required.

Emmett, when arraigned this morning, pleaded not guilty. In connection with this case, the police also arrested one William J. O'Connor on a charge of drunkenness. His case was also continued by the court pending developments in the Emmett assault, as the officers claim O'Connor was in the house at the time of the alleged fracas.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY OF AUTOMOBILE.

Arraigned on a charge of stealing an automobile, Joseph Regan, Michael O'Hare and William Cahill, all of Somerville, were held in $2500 bail each by Judge Enright in district court today for reappearances next Monday.

It is alleged that the trio, arrested by Billerica police in Pinehurst late yesterday afternoon, stole the automobile of Alex D. Stein, of Newton, from opposite the Exeter theatre on Newbury street, Boston, late Saturday night.

LATE JAMES COFFEY WAS WELL KNOWN HERE

The news of the sudden death in Worcester late last week of James C. Coffey, aged 63, for many years executive officer of the Worcester board of health and ex-chairman of the state board of plumbing examiners, was received at city hall in Lowell today, when Agent Francis J. O'Hare received formal notice from a Worcester friend. No Lowell official was able to attend the funeral services, which were held this morning from St. Paul's church at 9 o'clock. Members of Worcester city council attended the funeral in a body.

The late health officer was well known in Lowell and was a frequent visitor at the health board's office in city hall. At one time he was president of the Massachusetts association of boards of health. He came to be recognized as one of the most efficient health officers in New England.

His duties as one of the examiners on the state board of plumbing called him to Lowell twice a year and sometimes oftener, and he always spent several days here on each trip, making many friends in the city and especially in the municipal building.

Mr. Coffey was for many years a personal friend of Agent O'Hare, a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Washington club. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Miss Grace Coffey and Mrs. Maurice P. Cunningham. He was born in Worcester, Nov. 11, 1853.

POLITICS AND RELIGION

Sermon by Rev. Dr. Fisher at
First Universalist Church
—Begins 27th Year

"Politics and religion ought to go hand in hand," declared Rev. Dr. Fisher, D.D., yesterday in the First Universalist church, beginning the 27th year of his leadership of that parish by delivering a stirring sermon that touched upon many problems of the times.

"I have heard men standing on street corners in Lowell making absurd promises," the pastor said. "One man was going to free Ireland; another was going to make a disruption between England and America; another was going to take off all the one-man cars in the city; another was going to shut up all the rum shops in Lowell and kill the gambling hell; and men stood there, swallowing that bait, hook, line and sinker. I sometimes pity humankind."

The sermon also reviewed briefly the pastor's work in Lowell during the past 26 years. At the close of the service Dr. Fisher asked those who were there when he preached his first sermon as leader of the church, to stand up. Twenty-seven men and women responded.

In his address of reminiscence and greeting, Dr. Fisher said in part:

"In a long pastorate there are advantages and disadvantages. The friendships formed go down very deep, but I sometimes feel that when a pastor has stayed as long as I have in the city of Lowell, it might be better if a new voice were heard. You know, sometimes we hear the old voice so often that it becomes hackneyed."

"What does the church stand for? There are those who believe that it stands merely for social life; some attend church because they like the minister. I sometimes think that some people think that the minister is a supernatural being, out of the ordinary conditions of life. I sometimes think of the caricatures of the minister upon the moving picture screen. Now, I have any feelings and don't expect to have any. I am just an ordinary man in the community. The church of God is its own enemy. The enemies are not outside; they are the men within who are always trying to criticize. The meanest man in the world is the man who gets mad at his church."

"If the church of God stands for anything, it stands for worship of a supreme being. If I belonged to a church nobody could drive me out simply because they do not speak to me."

The pastor said many of his old Lowell friends had passed out during the past 26 years, and he has helped to lay many of them away. "I wonder if there were not some things that 'eye hath not seen nor ear heard,' what we should do!"

"Twenty-six years of golden sunshine; twenty-six years of good-byes and greetings; I ask you to come to worship God."

EMERGENCY SITUATION
HAS PASSED

The emergency situation no longer exists, according to a communication received by Commissioner of Streets Murphy from the civil service commission and starting today he has been instructed to employ no men other than those certified on the weekly list supplied by the civil service commission.

This morning the street department yard was jammed with men seeking employment, but neither the commissioner nor his superintendent could do anything for them as they are compelled to abide by the ruling of the commission. They must do their best with their regular force to finish the work of snow removal on the many streets of the city which are still in a very poor condition, including a number of side streets in the downtown section and most of the streets in the residential districts.

MISS LAGUEUR HONORED
Miss Juliette Lagueur, a prominent member of the clerical staff of Fred C. Church, who on Dec. 17, will become the bride of Mr. Aloysius Green, a well known young man of this city, was tendered a wedding shower at the home of Miss Blanche Gervais, 9 White street, Saturday evening. The affair was attended by about 25 employees of the Church Co. who brought on the bride-to-be with best wishes, also made her the recipient of numerous appropriate gifts.

The home was handsomely decorated for the occasion with potted plants and flowers and the guests were remembered with dainty souvenirs. In the course of the evening a varied and enjoyable entertainment program was given, those participating being Miss Lucille Russell, Miss Mildred Hunter and Miss Mildred Dean. Light refreshments were served. The affair was in charge of Misses Blanche Gervais and Lucille Russell.

THE LEAGUE OF
CATHOLIC WOMEN

One of the busiest organizations in Lowell at the present time is the League of Catholic Women. Everybody hears from time to time reports of their monthly meetings, which are given wide publicity because of the many excellent lectures and musical programs presented at these gatherings throughout the winter season.

Competitively few, however, know of the vast amount of self-improvement work performed by the members. At the present time several classes in useful, everyday, skilled craftsmanship are being carried on, with gratifying success. Three classes in millinery are making marked progress under the supervision of Mrs. J. Daly.

Classes in arts and crafts, with Mrs. K. T. Sparks as an instructor, are meeting with general favor, and a class in knitting and crocheting has recently been added. A dressmaking class, under the direction of Miss F. E. Rivlin, has attracted many members.

In addition to the classes there is a choral club, with Mrs. J. T. Dunne as director and Mrs. Joseph Green as choral leader. This has become one of the league's best features, and is expected to have a prominent part in the cantata to be given this month.

The league orchestra, directed by Miss Marie J. C. O'Donnell, is exceptionally capable; and the Mandolin Glee club has made rapid strides in the members' esteem. The Glee club is under the direction of Mr. Joseph Hanley.

The quarters of the league in the Hamilton building are open daily, with Mrs. Helene Quinn in charge, and are admirably equipped for the members' diversion; the members and their friends find abundance of reading material on hand, or may spend their time in visiting themselves after a shopping tour. If they are not in the mood for other entertainment, Mrs. Mary D. Lang, the league treasurer, is to be found at the quarters on Saturdays, to receive membership fees, and during the week Mrs. Quinn is at all times ready to look after this important detail.

The members of the property committee in charge of the affair are as follows: Elizabeth Talbot, Leslie Hyman, John Wolcott, Hammond Barnes and Henry Levy and the members of the costume committee are: Elizabeth Whittier, Vera Owen, Eleanor Whittier, Elizabeth Talbot and Helene Howarth.

"Pape's Diapepsin" gives Relief in Five Minutes

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs. Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief, its harmlessness, its certain, unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large 60-cent case from any drug store, and then if you should eat something which doesn't agree with you, if what you eat has like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness, and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all indigestion vanishes. It is the most efficient antacid known—the certainty and ease with which it overcomes stomach and digestive disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Adv.

Adventures of the Twins

A GAMP

"SO YOU LIKE TO PLAY 'TRUTH, EH?' HE WAS SAYING

When I told you that the "Land of Underneath" was a beautiful place, I forgot about Gnome village. Gnome village was not beautiful—it was ugly. The streets were narrow and hilly and dark, the houses were ugly and crooked and mean, and the gnomes themselves were far from lovely. The Twins thought they had never seen such long, long noses anywhere before in their lives. They decided to find Kip right away, if they could, and return at once to Brownland to help Mr. Pim Pim. They had almost forgotten about the little fellow who had unlocked the gate and let them in.

But his rough little voice reminded them now. "So you like to play 'truth,' eh?" he was saying, and then Nancy remembered that he had asked them about it when they were still in the passage.

Some other gnomes came crowding up, curious to see the strangers, but they had also heard the word "truth" and that meant fun. Not that they liked to tell the truth, dear no, but they liked to hear other folks' secrets. The first gnome spoke again. "Everybody sit down in a circle, please." So Nancy and Nick and all the gnomes sat down in a circle with their knees crossed. Nick thought that perhaps he ought to wish both of them out of that, for it looked like a waste of time to be playing a silly game of "truth" with the gnomes. Instead of hunting for Kip, and getting the key to the Immaculate Conception that he had stolen from Pim Pim, Poor Mr. Pim Pim was stuck in Brownland waiting and waiting and waiting, and here they were!

But after all, perhaps it was best to wait a little and be patient. Nick was only a little boy, but he had very good sense.

"You begin," said the first gnome, nodding at Nancy.

Big Cleanup of Streets and Parks Staged By Park Dept. Sunday

SCENE ON SOUTH COMMON SUNDAY MORNING

Although about 140 men, a squad of tree climbers and about 40 teams were put to work by the park department yesterday morning, Supt. Kernan found that he still had about 150 applicants left. About 25 of these were put to work gathering brush on the commons and placing it in piles to be removed later on by the teams, and the others were regrettably sent away, since their services were not required.

CATHOLIC NEWS

Next Thursday will be observed as a holy day of obligation in the Catholic churches, the occasion being the feast of the Immaculate Conception. Confessions will be heard in all churches on Wednesday afternoon and evening, and masses will be at the usual hours on the following day.

This evening in St. Peter's church a triduum will open, and another will begin at St. Michael's church on Thursday evening. At the church of the Sacred Heart the women's annual retreat will open at 7:30 Wednesday evening and close next Sunday. The services will be conducted by Rev. James J. O'Sullivan, O.M.I. The novena which opened at St. Patrick's church last Tuesday will be brought to a close at 7:30 Thursday evening.

The women of the Immaculate Conception parish opened a retreat at 8:30 last evening. The opening services were largely attended. Next Sunday will mark the close of this retreat. Rev. James Fallon, O.M.I., and Rev. Charles Fallon, O.M.I., are conducting the retreat.

At the 7:30 mass at St. Peter's church yesterday the Immaculate Conception sodality received communion in a body. Rev. Daniel J. Keenan, D.D., the pastor, who celebrated the mass, was assisted in giving communion by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan. The high mass at 11 o'clock was sung by Rev. Francis L. Shea, and the sermon delivered by Rev. Fr. Heffernan. A triduum begins at 7:30 this evening, and will continue tomorrow evening at 7:30 and Wednesday evening at 7:30. In preparation for the holy day, confessions will be heard in the afternoon and evening on Wednesday. On Thursday masses will be held at 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12 o'clock. In the evening the usual holy day services will be held.

Rev. James A. Supple, D.D., sang the high mass at St. Michael's church yesterday, and Rev. Francis L. Keenan preached the sermon. The 7 o'clock mass, at which there were many communicants, was celebrated by Rev. William O'Brien, P.R., and Rev. Fr. Keenan assisted in giving communion. The novena, which opened last Tuesday evening, will close at 7:30 Thursday evening, with services including the rosary, a sermon and benediction of the blessed sacrament. At the 7 o'clock mass next Sunday members of the three sodalities will receive communion. Confessions will be heard in the afternoon and evening on Wednesday, and on Thursday masses will be held at 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12 o'clock, with a high mass at 9 o'clock.

At St. Michael's church yesterday the high mass was sung by Rev. Francis J. Mullin and the announcements were made by Rev. James J. Keenan. Preparations for the reception of new members into the Children of Mary, Holy Rosary and Immaculate Conception sodalities next Sunday, which will be conducted with appropriate ceremonies, a triduum will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings. On Thursday masses will be held at 8:15, 9:15 and 10:15 o'clock with a high mass at 8:30. It was announced at all masses yesterday that the Christmas sale, which was held last week under the auspices of the St. Michael's Charity guild, would be continued Thursday afternoon and evening, as it was felt that many of those who wished to attend the sale were kept from doing so by the inclement weather. A vote of thanks was offered to all who helped in the sale.

Members of the Holy Rosary sodality received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass at the church of the Sacred Heart yesterday. The celebration was held in giving communion by Rev. John F. About 20 ex-service men and 25 board of health teams were contributed by Mayor Thompson to assist in the work. Many others of the unemployed offered their services, but it was impossible to find places for all of them.

Portland Votes on Double-Platoon

PORTLAND, Me., Dec. 5.—A referendum on the adoption of a two-platoon system for the fire department whereby permanent firemen would be divided into day and night shifts, was held at the annual municipal election today. Carroll S. Chaplin was the republican candidate to succeed Mayor Charles B. Clark, now completing his fourth term. His democratic opponent was Harry E. Nixon, acting judge of the municipal court, who featured the fact in his political advertising that he began his career as a newsboy and bootblack. The republicans claimed they would carry seven of the nine wards, but the democrats did not concede as many. Miss Elsie Clark Nutt, the only candidate for the city council on the republican ticket, was nominated in ward 4, a democratic stronghold.

Charged With Auto Larceny

night. It is claimed by the police that the auto was taken to Billerica and abandoned in a partly dismantled condition. In Cook street yesterday. Investigation by Officers Livingston and O'Connor of the Billerica police resulted in the apprehension of the three Somerville youths shortly after in Pinehurst. According to their story they were visiting a friend at a camp there and firmly denied having any connection with the alleged larceny. They told the police that they were searching for the camp when arrested. It is the suspicion of the authorities that the men are not only connected with this larceny, but may also be implicated in other automobile thefts reported of late in Greater Boston. Somerville, Boston and Billerica police are now investigating and have as a clue, according to the Billerica officers, a license plate registered to a Squemville man which is said to have been thrown away by one of the arrested men when taken by the police.

The heavy ball fixed by the court, at the request of Constable Livingston, was not furnished.

The Mayor and City Finances

THE MAYOR is the responsible financial officer of the City of Lowell under the new charter.

THE MAYOR will prepare and submit the budget to the Council of fifteen members.

THE MAYOR can make or break the city on the kind of judgment he exercises in handling the financial affairs of this municipal corporation.

THE MAYOR will be paid a salary of $5000 for managing a seven million dollar corporation.

When the Municipal Council sat as a Committee on Appropriations last year, I initiated a slashing reduction of departmental estimates by reducing the estimates of my own departments $77,000 and at the same time I insisted upon substantial reductions in other departments based on materials and supplies without cutting wages one cent.

The present tax rate would have been much higher had I not insisted that these reductions should be made.

During my administrations of the past four years a city note has never gone to protest and at no time has the city's credit been impaired.

Signed,

PERRY D. THOMPSON,

Former German Emperor to Marry Again

BERLIN, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press).—According to the Zwölfthürblatt former Emperor William has decided to marry again. The lady of his choice, the newspaper says, is the widow of a high officer from Danzig, who was killed in the war. The newspaper professes to have received the information from a most trustworthy source.

TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF COL. WHITTLESEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—In a simple service, half religious, half military, more than a thousand people last night paid tribute to the memory of Lieut. Col. Charles W. Whittlesey, commander of the famous "lost battalion" of the Argonne, who disappeared from a vessel bound for Havana a week ago yesterday.

"His death was a battle casualty as much in the line of duty as if he had fallen by a German bullet. The scars of conflict or the wounds of battle are not always on the flesh. We of the regular army have seen too often the results of mental strain."

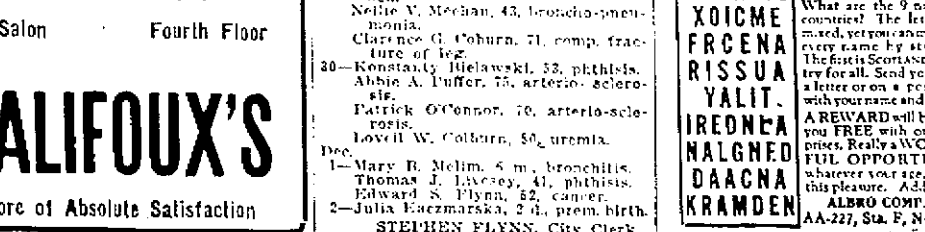

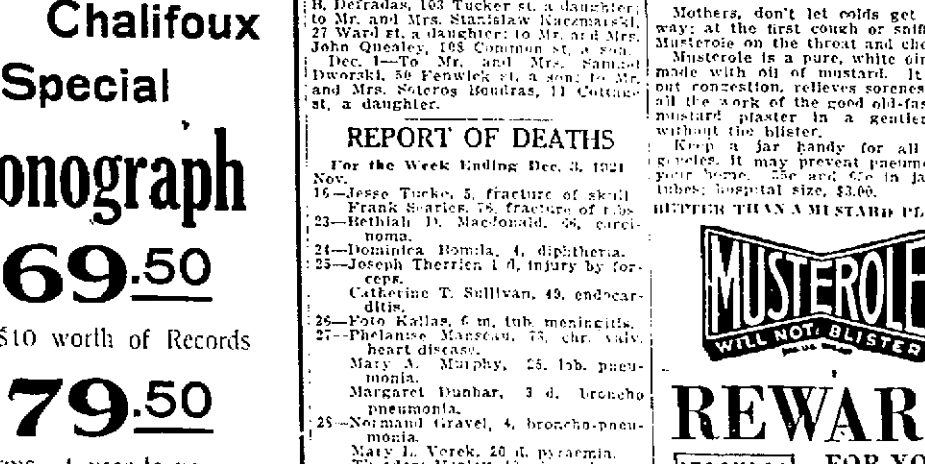

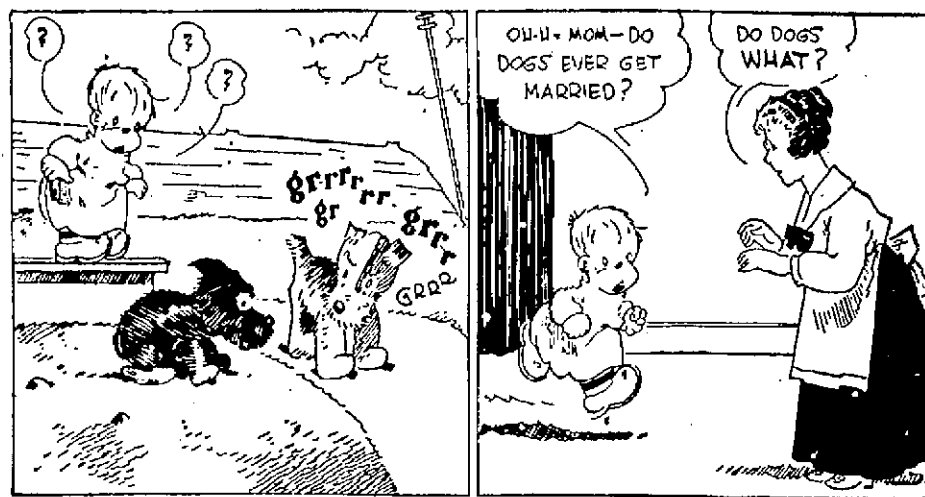

Such, with a few words to illustrate Col. Whittlesey's sensitive nature, which he said shrank from the harrowing remembrance of the events in which he had played so heroic a part, was the eulogy of one of the former officer's brothers-in-arms, Col. Nathan K. Averhill, commander of the 395th Infantry.

He told of how Col. Whittlesey, coming from the quiet, scholarly life of a city lawyer, was thrown at once into the thick of the fighting in France, how he won fame by telling his German would-be captors to "go to hell," and of the emotional torture he endured while watching his men slowly perish from hunger, thirst and their wounds. Continuation of the war through ministering to suffering soldiers, he said, hastened the breakdown that led to final self-destruction.

Frank Whittlesey, war hero's father and Melzer Whittlesey, his brother, were among those who attended the memorial services, held in the first Regimental armory. Others were representatives of veterans' organizations and college societies and former acquaintances.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

the mail service and in saving our great government millions of dollars a year that is now wasted because of our carelessness—yours and mine. Every day that you drop a letter in the mail box 40,000,000 other letters are already pushing and jamming through the postal machinery. One letter a day for each family of five persons in the United States is given to Uncle Sam to deliver.

When you send a parcel to the post-office for mailing any day there are about 8,000,000 other parcels ahead of yours passing through the postal hopper. This is in ordinary days, at Christmas time it is multiplied many times.

One family in about every ten puts a badly addressed letter in the mail every day. This mixes up over 2,000,000 half addressed letters with the 20,000,000 fully addressed letters. That means that the fully addressed letters must wait on the slow moving, poorly addressed letters just like the larger boys and girls are delayed by a bunch of "bad kids" tagging along.

You boys and girls can help the postal service and save your father some money, because he has to help pay the cost of searching addresses on letters and parcels sent out by this one careless and thoughtless family in every ten.

First find out if your family is the careless one, then bear in mind that your letters must be handled by skilled mail distributors standing in post-offices and on swaying postal cars of a mile-a-minute mail trains, often under poor light.

The address on every letter, card or package must be correct, complete, and legible, including the house number and name of street, and the "From" address should be in the upper left-hand corner so that the mail will be returned to you in case it is not delivered. Do not abbreviate names of states because so many look alike when abbreviated.

Put the proper amount of postage on your letters and wrap the parcels carefully. Avoid fancy writing, which causes postoffice clerks and letter carriers to stop and study and thus lose time. Make the address plain and easily read, and always use pen and ink or typewriter and light-colored envelopes, so as to save the eyes of the postoffice clerks. Do not use envelopes of unusual size. The little ones that are so frequently used for cards and notes at Christmas and other holiday times cause an untold amount of trouble and labor, as they will not fit our canceling machines and must therefore be canceled by hand. Because of their size and tendency to slip out of a package, these small envelopes are more likely to be overlooked or lost.

Mail your letters and packages early in the day, because this avoids overloading and delaying mail at the end of the day.

Your local postmaster and your teachers will tell you more about the postal service.

Do these things, and you will win the grateful appreciation of the people in your postoffice and especially of your Postmaster General.

WILL H. HAYS.

P. S.—Don't forget to mail Christmas packages this week.

MAIL YOUR CHRISTMAS PARCELS THIS WEEK

The following letter from Postmaster General Hays has been received here by Postmaster Meehan. The postmaster-general requested that the message be presented to the school authorities and read in the public schools Monday.

Christmas is almost here. Your great postoffice department has a big job ahead and needs your help. Think what it means to be Santa Claus to our 100,000,000 people and to deliver Christmas parcels to every family in this great country within the short space of a few days and without disappointment.

It can be done, and we're going to do it if we may have your help. I want to enlist the active assistance of every boy and girl in the schools of our country in getting parcels mailed this week to relieve the rush that comes directly before Christmas.

Will you go home today and take this message to your parents and friends?

"Our postmaster has asked us to mail our Christmas parcels this week, for, unless we do, Uncle Sam's load may be too heavy the last few days before Christmas that he won't be able to deliver all the presents by Christmas eve."

"The parcels must be well wrapped and tied and addressed plainly in order that they may arrive in good condition with their Christmas appearance unspoiled. You can put on your packages, 'Do not open until Christmas.'"

And, there must be a number on your house and a mail receptacle, too, for, if there isn't, Santa Claus' messenger, your letter carrier, may not be able to find the house where the present belongs.

There are some other things, too, in which you can all assist in improving

Beautiful and Talented But Doesn't Think She Knows It All

MARGALLO GILMORE

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—"If you could interview me ten years from now, I might have some philosophy of the stage, of attainment, of youth."

A frank-eyed, lovely girl sat in her theater dressing room, putting on her make-up to go on in one of the heaviest parts ever entrusted to an actress not yet 20, that of Ellen Carmody in "The Straw."

She was Margallo Gilmore, of whom the knowing are prone to talk about not only to her great future but also her great present.

"Youth is a difficult thing for a young person to philosophize about, isn't it?" she said. "Indeed, I appreciate—oh, so much—all the kind things people say about my work and I do feel a deep gratitude, but I have so far to go before I really arrive!"

Margallo Gilmore doesn't think she knows it all. She is simple, direct, earnest, eager to learn and study the best.

Cause of Confusion

"Really, when we stop to think," she continued, "it is all a bit confusing, isn't it? Here I am playing a role of an 18-year-old girl and I hear people say that only a woman of 40 could play it! I suppose that is why we have so few Julietts."

"I wonder if some day young actresses will have enough technique and youth to portray adequately the parts they look!"

"I'm glad I live in this era," she said, seriously. "Really, it is wonderful to be young and have the chances of the stage—oh, so much—all the kind things we have today. But you see I just can't philosophize—I suppose it's the same with youth as with anything else—one doesn't quite get the fullest appreciation while passing through an experience."

Union Packing House Employees Strike

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Union Packing house employees at 15 packing centers in the Middle West went on strike today. The "big five" packers declared that the organized workers represented less than five per cent of the total number of employees while union leaders insisted that they had gained the support of more than half the workers. The strike was voted by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters & Butcher Workmen of North America after a wage reduction of approximately 10 per cent in all lines had been ordered by the packers. Two hundred armed policemen were assigned to the stockyards district here. The packers announced that they intended to fill immediately the places of all workers who failed to report.

Woman Juror Makes Charges

commission merchant with whom her husband had had business dealings, had telephoned the husband Saturday night with the intent of having her change her vote as a juror.

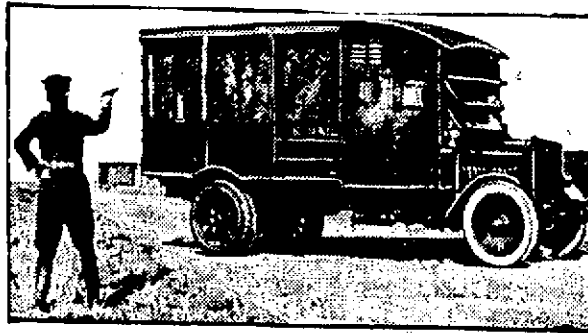

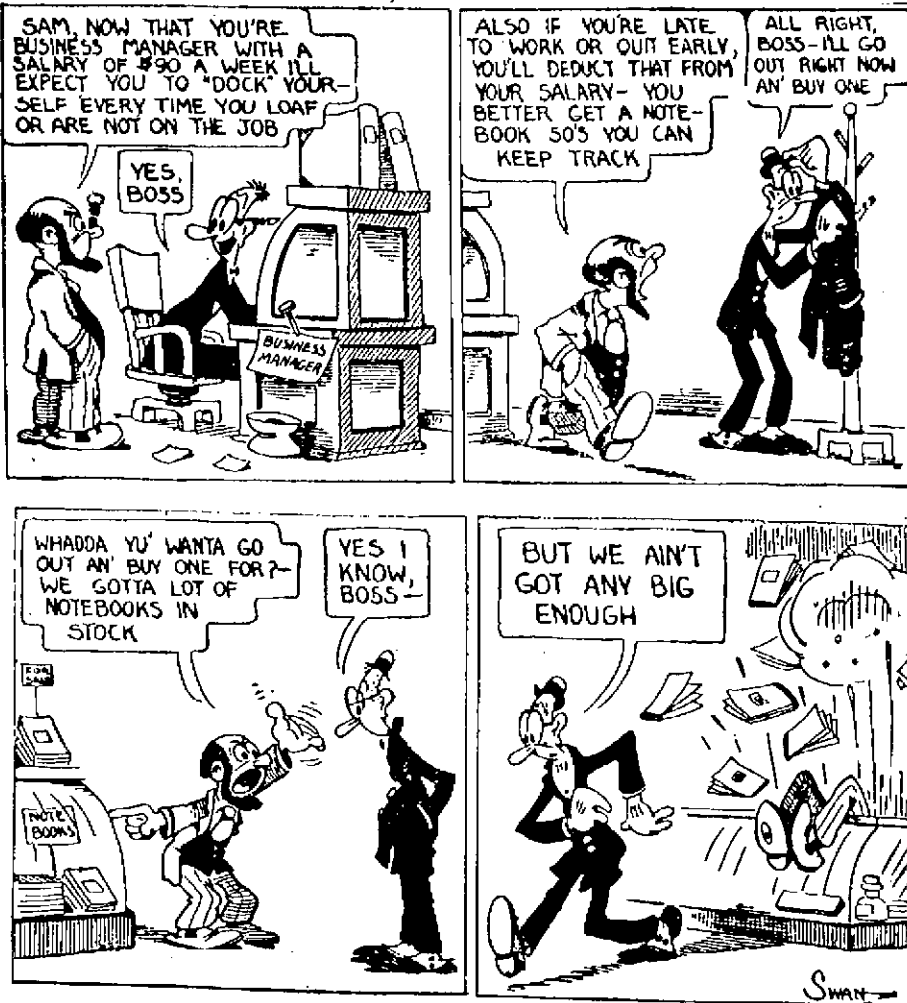

She let it be known that she had stood consistently for Arbuckle's conviction. Hubbard said it had been intimidated by the man that he might save himself trouble by sending his wife a note asking that she vote for Arbuckle's acquittal.

When announced that the whole matter would be laid before the grand jury tonight.

The federal charge against Arbuckle, based on an allegation of illegal transportation of liquor drunk at the party in the Hotel St. Francis, at which it was charged Miss Virginia Rappe met fatal injury, was set for hearing today.

Charges of perjury against Mrs. Minnie Neighbors of Los Angeles, a witness called by the defense at the trial also were set for hearing today. In addition to all these, last night's intimation by Milton Cohen, of Arbuckle's counsel, that the defense had "something up its sleeve" and was prepared to "let it come down" today came in for comment.

Bomb Explosion Wrecks Detroit Building

DETROIT, Dec. 5.—A bomb explosion late last night wrecked a building on East High street, occupied by three commission houses. Police said they suspected it was the result of a blackmail feud. No one was injured. The firms occupying the building are Curro and Marchi, the Frank Wise Co., and the American Seed Co.

41 hours of deliberation the seven men and five women on the jury which tried Hossack Arbuckle on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe was discharged yesterday when they were unable to agree upon a verdict.

The jury was brought into court at its own request at noon, reported a disagreement and asked that it be discharged. The foreman announced that the final ballot stood 10 to 2 but did not say whether the majority favored conviction or acquittal.

Court officers said, however, that the balloting favored acquittal throughout. The case was set for retrial Jan. 8.

In a statement following the jury's return Arbuckle declared one of the five women jurors had prevented his acquittal "because she refused to allow her fellow jurors to discuss the evidence or reason with her and would not give any reason for her attitude." He did not name the juror.

District Attorney Brady said that Arbuckle had been given a "fair and honest trial" and complimented the jurors who held out for conviction as having "courage and determination." He was not in court when the jury reported.

IRISH FORESTERS HELD MEETING

A well attended meeting of Branch O'Neil Crowley was held yesterday afternoon. Chief Ranger Hanley in the chair.

A big list of routine business was transacted, several applications having been received and new members admitted. Chief Ranger Hanley gave an account of the financial condition of the branch and its increase in membership showing that it is in a prosperous condition. A brief program was carried out including songs and recitations by Brother Linehan and others. Brother McCreedy spoke in favor of reviving the Gaelic language. He hoped that the branch would pick up some work in that line. Remarks followed by Brother Nugent, Brother Nevels, Moran, M. Mitchell, McInerney, Ryan, Kerslin and Horan. The meeting adjourned until Sunday, Dec. 18, when the election of officers will take place.

Sale of Christmas Seals

At least 2,500 letters with seals enclosed will be sent out. Public and parochial schools will be asked to help again this year.

A great deal of the revenue derived through the sale of the seals comes as the result of the work of the school children. About one-half of the total number of seals ordered will be sent to the schools.

Last year nearly one million seals were ordered and sent out by the council. A number of them were returned but the majority, realizing the good work of the council, returned either money or checks.

The letters this year contain any where from 50 to 200 seals. The price of each being but a penny. An appeal is made for the recipient to buy as many of the seals as he possibly is able.

The real concentrated drive will not

LESS MONEY SPENT

There was 12 per cent. less money spent in Lowell for purchases of goods in the month of October, last, than during the same month, last year, according to the latest report of the Roger W. Babson statistical sales service just received by the chamber of commerce. There is a bit of sunshine, however, in the statement that the October purchasing power of the city was 12 per cent. greater than the average for that month for the past decade. The actual amount of money spent by Lowell people and concerns in October was $21,395,000, according to the Babson report.

DIPLOMATIC BOMBHELL

It is now reported from Washington that Secretary Hughes is likely to explode another diplomatic bombshell at the arms conference. This will come as a surprise almost as great as that in which he offered to scrap $500,000,000 of capital ships.

It is believed that the secretary will lay down a policy for adoption by the leading nations of the world in favor of maintaining the integrity of Russia. This will be another block set up against the ambitions of Japan in Manchuria. It will also help to prevent outbreaks between Russia and the nations along her widely extended border. It would remove one of the pretexts under which the Bolsheviks pursue the policy of conquest as the sole excuse for maintaining desultory warfare as a means of justifying their military sway throughout Russia.

If the Washington conference will stabilize China and Russia so as to protect both against attack by their ambitious enemies, it will have accomplished something even more important perhaps, than the proposed reduction of naval armaments. It is hoped that something will be done to bring peace to Russia and to save her people from starvation. Such a policy as proposed might result in re-establishing trade relations between Russia and the outside world and thus help to relieve the suffering people.

The "open door" in Russia is not feasible while the present dictators are in control; but there must come an end somewhere to a state of affairs that brings only plunder, persecution and starvation, and all this in the name of liberty.

LINCOLN'S ADVICE

Long ago when the nation of our fathers was nearing the brink of intestine strife and disaster loomed just ahead with omens of tragedy that threatened to engulf the country and dismember the union, a tall and solemn man in homespun, with something akin to the spiritual in his bearing, stood on a roughly-built rostrum before a throng of excited men and women and with a voice that sounded almost sepulchral in its intensity, said:

"I hope I am over wary, but if I am not, there is even now something of evil omen among us. I mean the increasing disregard for law which pervades the country—the growing disposition to substitute wild and furious passions in lieu of the sober judgment of courts, and the worse than savage mobs for the executive ministers of justice. The answer is simple. Let every American, every lover of liberty, every well-wisher of his posterity, swear by the blood of the Revolution never to violate in the least particular the laws of the country and never to tolerate their violation by others. Let reverence for the laws become the political religion of the nation."

The man who delivered that warning was Abraham Lincoln, and his words are applicable to certain present-day affairs of men and nations, some of which stand irresolute and in doubt, reluctant and suspicious, while the world awaits the issues of the momentous conference at Washington.

SAFETY AND DUTY

"Safety First" is very good as a policy of action except when it interferes with duty.

If a young man is out walking with a young lady and cufflinks come and take her away from him for the purpose of abducting her, it is his duty to fight in her defense. Failure to do so, brands him as a base coward and unworthy the respect of any woman.

In the trial of three Bravas at New Bedford, on the charge of holding up Miss Gertrude Butler and her escort, and criminally assaulting the girl, William H. Eldridge who accompanied her testified that he stood in plain hearing of her screams while she was being assaulted by three men, and yet he made no move to go to her relief. He said he was afraid of being shot as the men had revolvers and they told him to stand at a certain point and "be steady."

Eldridge is eighteen years old and six feet high. It appeared that he had had several opportunities of snatching the revolver from the hand of the man who frightened him as the latter had kindly given him a cigaret to smoke while Miss Butler was being assaulted. Eldridge confessed on the witness stand that he did not make any attempt to defend the girl because he was afraid; but despite the alleged danger, on his own admission, he was a self-confessed coward, utterly devoid of the spirit that any man should show under such conditions.

THE ARMS CONFERENCE

It seems that the arms conference at Washington is drifting into a fog from which even President Harding may not be able to see his way out. There is much talk now of the necessity of an association of nations, which, if carried out, would merely displace the League of Nations or duplicate its functions. Yet, without some such international body, it is difficult to see how any agreement for reduction of armaments can be enforced. Apparently Secretary Hughes has lost the leadership which he assumed with so much success early in the conference. Japan and England readily accepted the proposition in principle, but when it comes down to a definite agreement, both nations have so many conflicting and modifications to offer that the original proposition is lost and must as well be withdrawn. Japan after a period of stalling refused to make a 50 per cent. ratio of naval power as compared with that of England and the United States, while England demands that large submarines be also scrapped.

There are so many conflicting claims and demands that any agreement on real reduction of armaments that would minimize the chances of war and lighten the burden of maintaining great competitive armaments on a war basis, are rapidly vanishing. Japan and England are still in alliance, and each is separately making demands that are at variance with the original proposition of Mr. Hughes to which they gave their approval in a general way.

JUST NATURAL

George Cohan, back from Paris, says: "I saw Lucien Guitry for the first time. He is the greatest actor I have ever seen. I strongly advise all American actors to study this man and learn the art of not acting."

Guitry, master performer, is 61 years old. His art lies in always being natural, never "putting it on." An amateur tries so hard to act that he overdoes the thing, seems artificial.

Most of us can apply this principle with profit. The business man, for instance, could write an excellent ad, easily, if he wrote it naturally, just as he would present his sales arguments verbally to a customer. Instead, he usually "tries to write well" and makes a bad job of it.

No task is difficult to those who know how, except as dread makes it so. A task is easy or hard, depending on your mental attitude. All problems are simple. Approach them naturally, not imagining them difficult or mysterious, and if you have the conquering spirit, you'll solve them quickly.

Success is in being natural and doing things naturally.

FOR THE UNEMPLOYED

Governor Cox has made a wise suggestion, that with the approach of the Christmas season, steps be taken throughout the commonwealth to bring the Christmas cheer into the homes of the unemployed and others who may be in need of relief or sympathy. Although times cannot be said to be actually hard, yet for those who are unemployed, the contrary is a fact. Those who cannot find work are not benefited to any great extent by the fact that a majority of the mills are running and business is fairly good.

It is the duty of the charitable and welfare organizations in every city of the commonwealth to make a special effort to make the Christmas season enjoyable to those who are unemployed or who for other causes need the uplifting influence of Christmas cheer.

JAZZ LIFE

"Jazz life isn't hurting us," says Lemuel H. Murlin, president of Boston University. He makes the point that jazz life causes discussion merely because most of us are so good that naughtiness shocks us.

Jazz is hysterical reaction from the strain of war. Snelling salts are being applied and the patient is slowly "coming to."

A town isn't intemperate just because it has a few drunkards. Jazz life, like crime, is the exception. That's why it gets so much publicity. The majority still have their heads and are normal.

WORK FOR DR. LORENZ

Should Dr. Lorenz, the famous Austrian surgeon, come to Boston, it might be possible to get him to visit Lowell, although it is not at all probable. But, if he comes to Boston, it is likely that many decrepit children will be sent to his clinics from this city. There are many cases of hip disease and other ailments of a kindred nature, that have been regarded as incurable except through some miraculous means. But it is alleged that many such cases are being cured by Dr. Lorenz or under his special direction.

In this city there are perhaps 75 children whose legs are badly bowed; and nothing is being done for them. These deformities can be cured in most cases by ordinary surgical treatment to straighten the bones, which the children is a comparatively easy matter.

There is plenty of work for Dr. Lorenz, or any other skilled surgeon, in Lowell; but apparently those who need it most, and the parents of the afflicted children, are indifferent to the possibility of cure.

Some people, it seems, intend to vote at the coming election for candidates who are likely to create excitement and keep the city departments in a state of turmoil. Who wants two years of turmoil, litigation and wrangling?

The Arbuckle jury has disagreed and a second trial, if attempted, is not likely to have any other result. The verdict throughout the nation will be that money has triumphed over justice.

There is no doubt as to the simplicity of the ballot for the city election. The chief duty then will be to vote for the candidates who will give the best and most progressive service.

Japan will now have a chance to explain why he has held on to Shantung despite her promise to relinquish it to China. She seems to have very vague ideas of vested rights.

Early Christmas shopping pays in money and in satisfaction to the person who gives and the one that receives.

The weeks resulting from the recent storm are really more serious than at first supposed.

Let us have a good city council as a protection against other dangers.

The Cunny Scots

"Yes," said a traveler, "I had an amusing journey up to town. There were two Scotsmen in the car. 'How do you know they were Scotsmen?' asked his friend. 'Well, they both happened to take their pipes out together. They filled them and then each calmly waited for the other to strike a match.' 'Well, what happened?' 'I brought out my pipe, so both of them waited for my match.'"

Old Duffer Inside

A famous bishop was to officiate at an important service in London, and a great space was roped off so that the dignitaries might alight from their carriages unmolested. When a noisy four wheeled crowd, the square, driven by a fat, red-cabby, police tried to head him off. "Get out of here," one of them called brisley. "This entrance is reserved for the bishop." With a wink and a backward jerk of his thumb the cabby replied, cheerfully: "I've the old duffer inside."

Fishing Monkeys

The strangest thing seen by Captain Wells, during a six-year's exploring trip in Malay jungles, was this. Gangs of monkeys, fishing together. They worked in pairs, one monkey overturning stones in a stream, so his partner could reach down and grab shrimp, small fish and crabs. Like American boys, hunting crabs. This teamwork among monkeys is the first step in organized society. The next step in these monkeys' evolution toward the higher form of animal life, may be to begin killing each other with clubs.

Farm Life Movies

Movies about farm life—entertaining and also instructive—are being developed by the American Farm Bureau Federation. "Spring Valley," five reels, was the first. It was produced by farmers and acted by farmers. A second picture, "The Homestead," is ready for distribution. These films, like ones to follow, interweave romance and adventure with the basic economic problems of farm life. Here is an acre from which a mighty army will surely grow. The movie, developed as entertainment, may soon be one of the most practical educational devices in American life. And its greatest field should be the most important industry, farming.

Feuding the Landlord

Mr. and Mrs. Brown could not get a house. "Well," said Mrs. Brown (she was always the one who decided), "We'll have to live in an apartment."

The next day they struck luck. A furnished house was offered them at a price called away to every other part of the country on business. They had practically signed an agreement for 12 months, when by a slip of the tongue their children were mentioned. "Children?" snapped the landlord. "Nothing doing," and he brutally pushed Mr. and Mrs. Brown out of the house.

The next day they had a similar piece of luck. Another house had its owner deserting it for 12 months, and they were offered it for that period. "Any children?" asked the landlord. "No," faltered the Browns. And the landlord walked away, apparently satisfied. But he was back the next day, when the Browns' apartment was accompanied by a little old man with long gray hair, and beard, and a little old woman with gray hair, bonnet, and shawl. Satisfied that there were no children the landlord withdrew. Inside the house it was only the work of a minute for Mrs. Brown to remove the gray-haired bonnet, etc., from little Willie and Alice Brown.

Advent of Winter

Take the scarlet hammock down, put the window screens away, bring the flower cushions away, and stow the delated fishing rod, back the camping outfit, too. Cover the motor boat, snugly house the light canoe. Nail a lot of weather strips all around the little cracks. Fasten sticky window panes tight with Chink, the cranberry waxes the wind may come creeping in at night. When the pond is glazed with ice and the hills are raked in white.

Haul the bob sled from the shed, sharpen on the children's skates, treat the family skis and be sure they all are mated. Shake the moth balls from the furs, get the storm door back in place, hang the winter coat on the air-dried Dame Frost is making lace. Stand the ancient easy chair by the center table piled High with current magazines and new fiction, weird and odd. Swing the shaded drop light low, blow upon the dying ember. Draw the heavy curtains close. It is chilly—Hall, December.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

In the early part of the week the chief of police gave out a statement to the effect that the snow must be removed from sidewalks soon after the storm was over. The storm has been over for several days and still there are many sidewalks in the residential districts in which the snow remains untouched. Some of these sidewalks are now covered with a coating of ice, which makes it very dangerous for the police to issue orders to patrolmen to force landlords or tenants to do a little shovelling before any serious accident is reported. The law clearly states that the snow must be removed from sidewalks not later than 24 hours after the end of a storm and it seems that this law should be enforced in the residential districts as it is in the business sections.

The heavy rainstorm late Friday night made astonishing inroads on the accumulation of snow in the streets. Within half an hour the snow seemed to be reduced by one-half, and in the residential districts, where the sidewalks had not been well shoveled, streams of water several inches in depth were encountered by belated pedestrians. The street cars leaving Merrimack square were filled with passengers who were caught in the downtown section without umbrellas, and in the smaller one-man cars the accommodations were very inadequate. Another such storm would remove the remainder of the snow.

Lowell theatrians have had quite a revival of old-time melodrama during the past few weeks. At certain theatres, both in moving pictures and on the speaking stage, "heart interest" is the chief motif, and the size of the audience who attend testifies that this revival is proving extremely popular. In the larger cities, according to the theatrical advertisements, the same tendency is observed, and the opinion is quite general that melodrama of the old-fashioned kind is in for an extended run.

All who witnessed the rush for jobs at city hall the past week, when it was noised about that the mayor was about to appoint a few special police officers for the emergency period following the storm, must have been impressed with the fact that the unemployment situation is still acute. The corridor outside the mayor's office and the city messenger's office was crowded by young men anxious to get on the payroll, and many pitiful stories of protracted unemployment were heard. Again Saturday, when the rumor went out that a number of extras were to be taken on for Sunday work in the park department, a large crowd gathered, and, of course, many were disappointed. The rush of applicants at the street and water works departments continues day after day, but the civil service regulations leave the commissioners little latitude in employment matters.

The reason of unbuckled overshoes has been once again for the girls. The fair sex, as they have oftentimes been termed, delights in going around the streets with at least half the buckles of their overshoes flapping in the breeze. The way they shuffle along reminds one of a Chinaman and his sandals. I believe this "style" originated with the students at Dartmouth College a few years ago. The students were forced to wear high overshoes because of the deep snow. Required to travel only short distances from one class room to another they didn't bother to buckle their foot-wear. And then came girls to Harvard to social functions and they caught the idea. It may be the chic and careless, but at best it is only a fad.

I learn that the Y.M.C.A. convention in Worcester was one of the most interesting affairs the "Y" ever held in New England, and Lowell was, of course, well represented. The report of the state committee showed that the Y.M.C.A. had been organized in that state with 200 members and that more than 100 such associations had been formed in industrial plants during the past year. Americanization classes organized numbered 322, with more than 400 students, and 2272 men were aided in securing first papers and skill second papers. Among the members of the new Y.M.C.A. committee is Donald M. Cameron of Lowell, always to be found at the head of Y.M.C.A. affairs of any note.

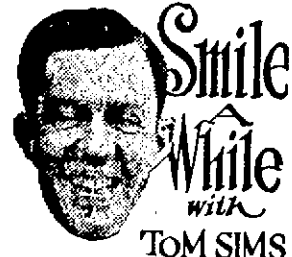

Lowell cotton mill men will be interested to hear that the old Vale mills, a former prosperous cotton industry in Nashua, but which has not been operated for 25 years, were discovered in the superior court at Nashua last Saturday. The property was sold to E. W. Labombard, and Parkman Dexter of Boston, who held a majority of the old Vale mill stock, appeared in favor of the dissolution.

Lawrence is after those five-cent street railway fares with a vengeance. In reply to a recent petition of the Lawrence city government for the establishment of a general five-cent fare in the city limits, the trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway will meet the city's representatives Wednesday afternoon this week. I am told that the conference will be held in the trustees' rooms in Boston. Lowell five-cent fare boosters will watch the outcome of that hearing with considerable interest, although the outlook for lower fares in the city of Spindles is somewhat gloomy just at present.

The Massachusetts Safety council has sent a somewhat tardy warning to children and adults to refrain from touching hanging limbs, poles of wires of any kind. Lowell folk were warned several days ago by local authorities that most of the electric lines in the city needed no one to tell them to look out for dangerous wires or objects charged with electricity, and they have enlisted every public agency to assist in this work. Electric light and power companies particularly fear the law of acquisitive turn of mind. It has been reported at the Market street offices of the local corporation that numerous youngsters had "discovered" that the electric current was not many fathoms away. Now that repairs are being ordered at ten times the usual cost, it is being urged that everyone observe the request of "hands off."

Many are the tired backs and blistered hands that have quit work and crawled into bed the past few nights. The early work of the snowstorm, harking away at the eaves, walls, eaves, away and chopping limbs of trees, most of the dear old public is willing to call a halt for a few weeks at least. In the memory of the oldest inhabitant there have never been so many lengthy sessions with the snow.

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Cecil DeMille was hurrying to catch the boat that was to take him to Europe for a two-months' vacation. I had just two minutes to interview him.

Here's the interview, grabbed on the run, as it were:

"What's the prime requisite of a movie star?" (DeMille has placed more stars in the film business than any other person.)

"Ability to act and personality."

"Which is the more important?"

"Personality. If one has that he or she can be taught to act. On the other hand, one may know how to act but have no personality."

"What is personality?"

"That which makes you look at a person a second time."

"What screen players do not started their careers under your guidance?"

"Hayakawa, Mae Murray, Wallace Reid, Geraldine Farrar, Jack Holt, Gloria Swanson, Wanda Hawley, Rebe Daniels, Agnes Ayres, Elliott Dexter, Tom Meighan, Monte Blue—and of, yes, Theodora Roberts. No player except Mary Pickford has done as much to advance the technique of screen acting as Theodore Roberts. Sorry, I've got to hurry or I'll miss the boat. I'll see you when I return from the other side. So long!"

"So long!"

STATUS QUO OF STROHEIM'S "FEDERAL WIVES"

Train. Rushing across continent. Special car. Six film cutters. Projection machine. Tinting outfit. 17,000 feet of film being reduced to 12,000. That's the status quo of "Federal Wives."

Eric Von Stroheim started to film in May, 1920. Had 365,000 feet sent. In 1921. Stopped shooting and started cutting. Central theatre, New York, housed for special showing starting December 1.

By November 1 Stroheim still had 33,000 feet left. What he cut out he'd want to put back. Universal took the job away from him.

New editors boiled it down to 17,000 feet in month of November. Still 5000 feet too long. Expected to have it ready January 1. Meanwhile central theatre rented for other pictures.

Censors of many states passed on this film in California. And what was left out would have proved the greatest box office attraction that ever showed, but that's because it wasn't fit to be shown.

CINEMAGRAMS

Gladys Brockwell is starred in "Double Stakes."

Jerome Glady is to play a lead in "Always Warm and Green," Gouverneur Morris' screen story.

The Fox Film version of Longfellow's "Stargazing" has been cut to three reels for public school use.

There are 232 double exposures in "One Glorious Day," the comedy Will Rogers made for Paramount.

The Reginald Barker is to direct Harry Carey in "The Storm." Universal paid $22,500 for the scenario of that.

"Miss Lulu Bett," Zerk Gale's novel which William DeMille recently screened, is in its thirteenth printing.

Title of Octave of Claudius changed to "A Blind Bargain." Changing titles of pictures is blind bargain.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The Great Jansen, who appears at the B. F. Keith theatre this week, beginning today, in Horace Goldin's masterpiece, "Sawing a Woman in Half," will mark the top line of illusions, not only in Lowell but in the United States. Outlasting anything that the Great Hermann ever did, this mystery will appeal tremendously to thousands.

of persons during the week's engagement.

Placed in a collapsible basket of wood is a young woman and at every performance the Great Jansen will saw the basket in half, and will do the same with its female occupant. And then, to make the illusion more perfect, he will restore both box and woman to their original condition. It is a marvelous piece of illusion. There is no trick to the saw used, and if one is in doubt he may bring his own saw to the theatre, that it may be used during the act.

Jack Princeton and Lillian Watson in "Browderbyville" will top the other portion of the vaudeville show. There is a smiling girl, that is away from the conventional. George Stanley and Sister in "Bits of Dixie" are sweet singers and givers of the mellowness of the south. Their act is everywhere acclaimed as compelling. Dolly Gray and Bert Byron in "A Girl's Weight" have dancing and singing and comedy all thrown together for 15 minutes, and the four casting Mellos are aerial wonders, whose work is not equalled by that of any other air performers in the theatre. Alpha and Beta Kane are real sisters, who are billed as the "Blue Belles of Harmony," and Frank Browne is a knight of the hammers in other words, a professional. For very good measure Topics of the Day, Pathe News and Acropolis Fables will be shown.

"THE THREE MUSKETEERS"

If anyone is in doubt about the costume play as an excellent form of entertainment, he should follow the crowds to the Rialto theatre daily and see Douglas Fairbanks in the role of Alexandre Dumas' classic story, "The Three Musketeers." Featuring the costumes of the early 17th century, this film stands as one of the most impressive and gorgeous photoplays in motion picture history. It is thrilling, romantic, crammed full of red-blooded adventure and reveals Douglas Fairbanks in a type of work which is then in anything he has done since leaving the speaking stage for pictures. He has been given an ideal adaptation of the story by Edward Knoblock, noted dramatist, and Fred Niblo, as director, has developed every situation in a way that enabled Fairbanks to make the most of it. Those who have read "The Three Musketeers" will have no regrets when they view it on the silver sheet, for Fairbanks has reproduced the story with a truthfulness and fidelity that is particularly gratifying. It has been a long time since so much care has been exercised in the choosing of characters for a picture as is evidenced in the selection of the cast of this play. The presentation of "The Three Musketeers" is splendid, with a special augmented orchestra to play the specially prepared symphony for the occasion. The presentation at the Rialto theatre is to be highly praised. This photoplay extraordinary will be seen in Lowell at the Rialto theatre for only a limited engagement of one week, showing four times daily at popular prices.

CHOWIN THEATRE

"Wet Gold" by J. Ernest Williamson, directed by Ralph Ince and distributed by Goldwyn, will be shown at the Chowin theatre Monday and Tuesday. It is a tale of two rival factions to recover stolen treasure hidden in an old wreck at the bottom of the sea. The remarkable features of "Wet Gold" are the use of diving suits, a submarine lying on the bottom of the sea as a base of operations, and the unceasing action of the cast in their roles of searchers of the ocean deep.

Some of the most beautiful scenes in "Wet Gold" were taken at the race track in Havana, Cuba, where an old southerner, who has stolen his last cent on a favorite colt and lost, decides to join a ship-wrecked castaway, John Crowell, in the hunt for the stolen treasure that he knows about.

One of the most thrilling incidents shows three men in diving helmets with internal oxygen tanks, starting from the shore in search of the submarine far out on the ocean floor. They walk straight out to sea; finally their heads disappear and we see their progress along the bottom of the ocean to the submarine which they use as their base of operations. "Wet Gold" is one of those pictures that you will talk about for a year.

Left High School Because of Lung Trouble

Allen's Lung Healer

Restored Him to Health and to His School

From all indications this boy was on the verge of consumption, yet his case was not so hopeless as it seemed, for he found and used the right remedy in time. Cases similar to this are a common occurrence, as Allen's Lung Healer is becoming famous as a lung medicine.

H. J. Allen: Dear Sir:—Four years ago, while in my senior year in the high school, I was suffering from a severe cough on my lungs. I had been doctoring for several months, but had found nothing to help me. My lungs became so sore that at times it seemed as though they were blistered. I became so run down that I had to leave school. Then a friend told me of your Lung Healer. I tried it and was greatly relieved by the first bottle. I continued its use and after taking four bottles my cough was gone and my health was completely restored. It made a new man of me and I went back to school. Your Lung Healer is certainly a grand medicine and a great body builder.

Yours gratefully,

Strike of Shoeworkers in Lynn

LYNN, Dec. 5.—Three hundred shoeworkers employed in seven counter manufacturing plants here went on strike today in protest against a 20 per cent wage cut. George A. Lovely, business agent of the Shoe Workers' union, United Shoe Workers of America, to which the striking employees belong, said the union conceded the necessity only of a 10 per cent reduction. The manufacturers, he said, had first suggested a 30 per cent cut.

Fathers of Movie Stars Clara Kimball Young's Father

Edward M. Kimball is the father of Clara Kimball Young. He was born in Keokuk, Iowa, in 1859, and received his education in Baraboo, Wisconsin. Early in life he entered the theatrical world, and during his career has played in support of many famous actors and actresses, both on the legitimate stage and the screen. His principal hobby is gardening. He is here shown with his daughter painting their country bungalow.

They're sisters, even if they don't look it. The woman in front looks like Lloyd George, doesn't she? Well, she's his daughter, Mrs. Carey Evans. Behind is Miss Megan Lloyd George. They're living at Bournemouth.

RELIGIOUS FIRE DANCE FOR PRINCE OF WALES

BIKANER, India, Dec. 5.—A religious fire dance was held for the Prince of Wales as part of the program of entertainment given during his stay here. Bare-legged natives danced through the embers of a great bonfire built in the quadrangle of the fort. As they danced they sang wildly and snatched up portions of the fiery mass which they placed in their mouths. A shower of sparks followed their footsteps and the heat of the fire could be felt 10 yards away. Subsequently they prostrated before the prince, inviting inspection of their legs and feet, which were apparently moist and cool.

Several members of the prince's staff turned their fingers in attempting to pick up some of the embers. Nautilic girls danced, and a juggler danced on swords, spikes and saws for the edification of the royal visitor. The entertainment was completed with the singing of "God Save the King" in the Marwar tongue.

THE NEW WORLD AND OLD RELIGION

"The new world will be sustained by two pillars, education and religion," declared Dr. Francis Greenwood Peabody of Harvard, speaking before the All Souls' church congregation at the musical vesper service yesterday. As for the changes that will be brought about by the new international agreement now in the making at the Washington conference, Dr. Peabody said that only a close observation of the recent past can analyze the future situation.

Evacuation of Camp Devens Ordered

CAMP DEVENS, Dec. 5.—Evacuation of this camp was ordered today. By Friday the camp in which two divisions were trained for service overseas will have left only a corporal's guard of casuals and two officers. Orders from First Corps Area headquarters today directed Companies B and C of the 13th Infantry regiment, the only units now on duty here, to proceed to Fort Andrews, to assist in manning the coast defenses of Boston harbor.

Morse Starts Back to New York

HAVRE, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Charles W. Morse, whose return to the United States on the steamship Paris was requested by Attorney General Daugherty, boarded the liner for his journey back to New York at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Other passengers will not be allowed to embark before 6 o'clock.

48 Killed in Auto Accidents Last Month

BOSTON, Dec. 5.—Forty-eight persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents in Massachusetts during November, as compared with 79 in November last year, according to figures made public today by the state division of registration of vehicles. The decrease was noteworthy, it was pointed out, because there were 50,000 more automobiles on the roads during the past month than a year ago.

Would Be Bandit Caught

BROCKTON, Dec. 5.—When A. S. Myers passed a bundle of wearing apparel to a customer in his men's clothing store in the heart of the city this noon, he was confronted with the muzzle of a revolver and a command to come across with the cash in the store. Myers dashed out onto the street and shouted a warning. Officer Philip Finnergan responded and after a chase of a block, assisted by Mark Liberty, a coal man, brought the would-be bandit to bay with a threat from his police revolver. The man gave his name as Charles L. Glynn of Plymouth. He is held for assault with attempt to rob; carrying a loaded revolver, and attempted assault with a dangerous weapon. A boy of 15 is sought by the police as a supposed accomplice.

Turned Dogs on Her Assailant

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—New York detectives today displayed interest in a handbag worn on the left arm of Alexander MacArthur, artist and foster son of John R. MacArthur, released on $25,000 bail pending extradition proceedings brought in connection with attacks he is alleged to have made on Mary Louis Bradshaw, Montclair normal college student, and Mrs. Helen O'Neill of Cedar Grove, N. J. MacArthur told detectives that the handbag covered a cut. Later the police received a report that a third woman, a Mrs. Monroe of Cedar Grove, attacked in her home by an intruder a day or so before the assault on Miss Bradshaw, had turned two dogs on her assailant and that one had bitten him in the left arm. According to the police, MacArthur appears to answer the description of Mrs. Monroe's assailant. New Jersey detectives working on the case said Miss Bradshaw and Mrs. O'Neill were expected today to appear before the Essex county grand jury.

Coolidges Home to Vote

NORTHAMPTON, Dec. 5.—Mrs. Calvin Coolidge will arrive in this city at about 7:30 tonight, to cast her vote in the municipal election tomorrow. She will come by train as far as Springfield, where Mrs. R. B. Hills, one of her neighbors, will meet her. Vice President Coolidge is not expected until tomorrow morning.

ROCKEFELLER FORCED TO BORROW FROCK COAT

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., today confessed he had had to appear before the emperor and crown prince of Japan in a borrowed frock coat that fitted him only "pretty well." Mr. Rockefeller, who has just returned from a tour of the Orient, said he had been invited to an imperial garden party in Tokyo, but found he could not gain admittance without a frock coat, a bit of imprudence that had not seemed worth while to take along. All the Rockefeller millions failed to produce the necessary garment. Finally Charles R. Warren, the American ambassador, volunteered to lend him one.

ADOPT TENTATIVE PLAN PRESENTED BY ROOT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The sub-committee on draft of the far eastern committee of the Washington conference today disposed of the question of use of wireless installations in China by the power by adopting the tentative plan presented last week by Elihu Root of the American delegation. Under this plan, which will be reported back to the main committee at its next meeting, use of wireless would be restricted to diplomatic and governmental messages; those installations which would be used only to the extent authorized by the grants and the powers would co-operate with Chinese communications authorities through conference to the end that wave lengths be not interfered with.

$3,505,754,727 BUDGET

Federal Budget for Fiscal Year Faced Congress When it Reconvened Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—A federal budget for the fiscal year 1923 approximately $3,505,754,727, which had been estimated some time ago as the minimum of government expenditures for several years to come, faced congress when it reconvened today.

The exact figures, as prepared by the newly created budget bureau, and transmitted by President Harding in a special message, were $3,505,754,727, including an estimated deficit of $21,592,666 in the operations of the postal service.

This total represents a decrease of $682,107,039 from the $3,567,863,766 estimated expenditures for the current fiscal year, and $2,032,355,262 from the actual expenditures in the fiscal year 1921. It is, however, $167,571,377 in excess of the estimated receipts of $3,338,182,350, while the estimate of current fiscal year exceeds the estimated receipts of $3,334,453,663 by $21,454,346.

Referring to the apparent deficit for 1923, President Harding wrote the congress that "ways are provided for the relatively easy adjustment without added taxation of the discrepancy between income and outgo. As an example, he recommended legislation directing the reduction of the accumulated naval supply account of $100,000,000.

While the railroad administration and the transportation act are expected to cost the government $127,670,235 in 1922, no estimate of expenditure for these purposes for 1923 was included in the budget.

Experts explained that it was not possible to make an accurate estimate of what would be needed for the carriers until after the results of the 1923 railroad financing are known.

OPPOSE ST. LAWRENCE RIVER PROJECT

The directors of the Lowell chamber of commerce this afternoon went on record as unalterably opposed to the St. Lawrence river waterways project, which if carried through by the directors of the United States and Canada, would make that great river navigable to the sea. The vote of the Lowell directors, 11 of whom were present at the dinner and luncheon meeting this noon, was unanimous.

It is desired to get the opinions of other chambers on the project, however, and it was voted to canvass other cities of New England and the east and endeavor to find out if there is any sentiment at all with the proposed waterways.

It was said at the chamber offices this afternoon, that the action of the directors was taken in the firm belief that the St. Lawrence river project would act, if completed, as a powerful detriment to the business and commercial interests of New England.

GAS PERVADES MAYOR'S SANCTUM SANCTORUM

All doors leading to the mayor's office were thrown wide open this morning, making access to His Honor's sanctum sanctorum easy, but on crossing the threshold the reason was at once apparent. A very pronounced odor of illuminating gas pervaded the atmosphere, and the office was scarcely habitable. City Messenger Owen Monahan explained to 23 visitors that there was a leak in the gas main either inside or outside the building, and that on the second floor especially the odor was particularly noticeable. On the lower floors there was no odor at all, which seemed to indicate that the trouble was somewhere between the first and second floors. Employers of the gas company have been trying to locate the leak, but have not yet succeeded.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Shipping shares were in further demand at the opening of today's stock market, probably as a result of subsidy reports from Washington. American International and Mercantile Marine preferred, were among the most active features of the initial dealings. International Harvester, Pullman, General Electric, American Woolen, S. S. Rubber, Allied Chemical, Crucible Steel and Transcontinental Oil also were firm to strong. High class rails were ignored, aside from nominal dealings in coals and the usual favorites in the oil and industrial groups were sluggish. Leather, tobacco and mail order issued moderately.

Equipments, rails and oils were freely offered at reaction of 1 to 4 points in the last hour, regardless of the lower call money rate. The closing was irregular. Governor bonds, especially Liberty and Victory issues, were strong at new high records.

A. STORK REHEARSES

Here, friends, we have that antique old bird (traditionally associated with population increase, caught by the camera during a private rehearsal before assuming the duty assigned him in nursery tales from time immemorial. A Stork's fellow, hovering in the background, seem to have in mind a drop in the census rate, judging by their apparent reluctance to join the rehearsal. Or, it may be that they are simply protesting against being inveigled into this photographic stunt by the keeper of Selig's zoo in Los Angeles, where 20 of their kind are recent arrivals from Germany. That bundle A. Stork is dangling so expertly contains a life-size doll which presently will be added to some good little girl's nursery family—say along about Christmas time.

OXIDAZE

TABLETS
Made With Essential Oils
For
Politicians — Auctioneers
Clergymen — Lecturers
Singers

Anyone who speaks or sings in public
whose voice is apt to grow husky or
weak from the strain, will find that one Oxidaze tablet slowly dissolved in the mouth before speaking or singing, will make a world of difference. The voice stays strong and clear and natural even during an unusual strain.

Thousands of people have testified
to the remarkable value of these pure
essential oil tablets, which bring such
quick relief in cases of hoarseness,
loss of voice, soreness, or tickling
in throat, bronchitis, bronchial irritation, bronchial asthma, coughs, colds
and as a preventive against grippe,
influenza and pneumonia.

One small, inexpensive package of "Oxidaze" tablets will quickly prove
the value of pure essential oil in cases
of this kind; if they are always kept in the house for use in case of an emergency, they may save you many
days of serious illness or discomfort.

Drug Store can supply you.—Adv.

IRENE CASTLE'S LATEST DANCE GOWN

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Clouds with
the sun shining on them, a fantasy
of chiffon, and fur is this newest
dance gown of Irene Castle's.

The bodice, of blue cloth is fitted
just snugly enough to bring out exquisite lines while below a maze of
panels, points, and drapings of blue-
gray chiffon give distinctive charm to the skirt.

Quite long is this skirt, with the unseen hem line.

It grows transparent as it nears
the ankles.

Green and yellow ribbons falling
gracefully at the front of the frock
add a touch of brilliant color.

Giny fox is the fur used.

"DANDERINE"
Grows Thick, Heavy Hair
35-cent Bottle Ends all Dandruff,
Stops Hair Coming Out

Ten minutes after using Danderine
you can not find a single trace of dan-
druff or falling hair and your scalp
will not itch, but what will please you
most will be after a few weeks' use,
when you see new hair fine and downy
at first—yes! but really new hair
growing all over the scalp. Danderine
is to the hair what fresh showers of
rain and sunshine are to vegetation.
It goes right to the roots, invigorates
and strengthens them, helping the hair
to grow long, strong and luxuriant.
One application of Danderine makes the lifeless, colorless hair look youth-
fully bright, lustrous, and just twice
as abundant.—Adv.

Easy for Thin People to Put on Flesh and Gain Weight

It's such an easy matter nowadays for thin, weak, scrawny people to put on good, healthy, solid flesh and become plump and graceful that one often wonders why there are still so many people who seem to prefer to be "all skin and bone," and gain weight unpleasantly to look upon.

Physicians have long known that whoever could discover a remedy that would cause the food that one puts in the stomach to turn into good, rich, flesh-making blood instead of going to waste, would discover how to put healthy muscular flesh onto thin undernourished people and this has now been accomplished.

If you are thin, under developed, nervous, weak or lack vigor and vitality,
you can secure at any good pharmacy
at moderate cost, a ten days treatment of EXANS' TRIPLE PHOS-PHATE. A new combination of flesh-producing, muscle-building, strength-creating elements that is guaranteed to put good, solid, lasting flesh on your body and to make you strong, healthy and vigorous, or money back.

Physicians who have watched the results of the EXANS' Triple Phosphate treatment are astonished at its rapid action—often in a month five to ten pounds of desirable weight is gained.
Fred Howard has agreed to supply a number of this paper with EXANS' Triple Phosphate and to guarantee it to do just what is claimed for it or money returned.—Adv.

EMPLOYMENT DECREASE

U. S. Employment Bureau
Reports Lowell in "Employment Decrease" Column

Majority of Cities in the State Show Increase in Employment

Of 65 cities reporting to the U. S. employment service bureau in its industrial survey of the country's largest cities for the month ending Nov. 30, Lowell is reported in the "employment decrease" column, the percentage of decrease being 1.6.

Forty cities report employment increases and 24 cities decreases. The decrease in Los Angeles is 10.5, New Orleans 9.4, Brockton 6.5 and Boston 1.1.

The decrease in Lowell is not regarded as in any way an industrial setback for the city as only the 12 largest industries in the city are canvassed, and chamber of commerce officials said today and there might be a number of smaller mills or manufacturing places where additional employees have been put on pay rolls, which would not be figured in the survey of Lowell by the tabulations employed by the department of labor.

The employment increases show better conditions in Worcester, Fall River and New Bedford. Lawrence shows a slight increase of .55 and Springfield 1.06.

The monthly survey is based on actual figures taken from the larger industrial payrolls of the country, estimates and guess-work being eliminated. The statistics on which computations are based are gathered each month by the department's special agents in 65 principal industrial centers and transmitted by telegraph. In all, 1428 firms, each usually employing more than 5000 workers, or a total of 1,600,000 are comprised in the survey. On Nov. 30, these 1428 firms had 7219 more employees on their payrolls than they carried on Oct. 31, an increase of .46.

Industrial classifications show increases in employment in paper and printing, lumber and its manufacture, vehicles for land transportation, iron and steel and their products, tobacco manufactures, chemical and allied metals and metal products other than iron and steel. The industries show a decrease in liquor and beverages, railroad repair shops, food and kindred supply products, leather and its finished products and miscellaneous industries.

The line of prosperity which started on an upward swing in August and September showed a tendency to recede during November. While iron and steel continued to add to its forces, industry as a whole remains inactive. Railroad repair shops let out about 5 per cent of their workers. Food and kindred products also made a heavy reduction, underlining unemployment slackness. Textiles remain steady. Other industries show little change, with the exception of the automotive industry, which apparently has recovered from its seasonal inertia, and is again adding to its forces.

Reports from 231 of the principal industrial centers clearly indicate that owing to seasonal and climatic conditions, unemployment is increasing and there is no prospect of material change during the next three months. The most optimistic tone is that industry will hold the gain made in the past three months, and very little, if any, of the present unemployment will be absorbed before spring.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Fine of $150 for Illegal
Keeping of Liquor—Other Cases

Joseph DeCaires, of Montclair, avenue, pleaded guilty to a charge of illegally keeping intoxicating liquor and paid a fine of $150 in district court before Judge Bright today.

Charles Lallas offered a plea of not guilty to the same complaint and was given a continuance to Dec. 17 to enable the police to secure a state analysis of the liquor seized.

These arrangements were the aftermath of a busy week-end put in by the liquor squad under the direction of Sergeant Michael H. Winn. They claim that a quantity of moonshine was hidden beneath the floor and within partitions of a room on Montclair avenue said to have been occupied by De Caires, when they raided the place Saturday evening. Besides the liquor the officers also took possession of a $5000 gold, 30 barrels of mash and other liquor-making accessories.

Lallas' arrest took place in a Cabot street house Saturday noon when the liquor officers appeared on the scene and found the defendant, according to moonshine distillery official. Here the police seized two stills aggregating a capacity of 160 gallons, 27 gallons of moonshine, 19 barrels of mash and other paraphernalia used in manufacturing the prohibited fluid.

Late Saturday night the officers visited a store on Market street and purchased a pint of moonshine from one Costas Caris, they say, whom they arrested for making an illegal sale. He was not arraigned in court today.

FINED FOR GAMING ON THE LORD'S DAY

How one of a quintet of men surprised by the police while playing cards in the kitchen of a house in the rear of South street early yesterday morning ran into a bed room and jumped into a toilet, was told by Officers Patrick Connelly and Joseph Clark on the witness stand before Judge Bright in district court today. The defendants, charged with playing a game on the Lord's day, gave their names as Joseph Barlowa, Frank Souza, Joseph Farkha, Joseph Pakre and Manuel Andrade, all of Lowell. They pleaded not guilty, but even at the best of the judge that they should obtain counsel as they faced a grave charge, the men refused to have a lawyer and insisted that the case be tried today. The court found them guilty and imposed a $10 fine on each one, which they paid.

While the officers stated, was the result of several complaints, the last one being voted Saturday night by another man who told the police he "had been in the game and lost." Two packs of cards and $2.49 in change, contained in a glass on the playing table, were seized and showed to the court during arraignment. The police could not tell the court who the owner of the house was and he was not in the room. Sunday morning, the officers said. One of the men, at the arrival of the police, fled into a bed room and leaped into bed. When he was placed under arrest he protested vigorously, the officers stated, claiming that he was suffering from "bronchitis."

At the close of the case the question arose as to what disposition was to be made of the cards and the $2.49 seized in the raid. Finally the judge ordered the money to be turned over for court expenses, while the police kept the cards for "house use."

MORE PRIMARY EXPENSE ACCOUNTS FILED

Expense accounts of candidates at the city primaries continue to arrive at the election commission's office. Ten of these statements were received today, bringing the total to 48. The accounts are as follows: P. Blanche Hand Murphy, printing and advertising, $21.50; Howard D. Smith, printing, advertising and photo, $14.50; John J. Neeson, nothing; John J. O'Connell, printing, $20; John J. Townsend, printing, $20; Richard Lyons, nothing; Graham J. Whelan, printing and advertising, $62.50; Joseph H. Barea, printing and postage, $15.75; Edward M. Woodward, printing and advertising, $12.50; George W. Hartwell, printing and advertising, $29.22.

All the material for the election is now in the hands of the printer, and the commissioners state that at this election the printer will have no trouble in using the Currier system in counting the ballots, and expect early returns.

Numbering the candidates in each group and placing the family names first on the city election ballot are innovations which have brought general satisfaction to both candidates and voters, according to comment on the streets. In the council at large contest, where there are 12 candidates, and in the school committee group, with 18 candidates, many of the aspirants who were among the less fortunate at Friday afternoon's drawing feared that their supporters might meet with difficulty in finding their names, but with the new regulations all such difficulty is eradicated.

The candidate will simply inform his friend what his number is to be on the ballot, and the voters will look for their favorites either by number or by running down the column of family names, a much easier proceeding in the process of voting. There will be a rapid process with the new improvements, it is expected.

There will be a rapid process with the new improvements, it is expected.

Numbering the candidates in each group and placing the family names first on the city election ballot are innovations which have brought general satisfaction to both candidates and voters, according to comment on the streets. In the council at large contest, where there are 12 candidates, and in the school committee group, with 18 candidates, many of the aspirants who were among the less fortunate at Friday afternoon's drawing feared that their supporters might meet with difficulty in finding their names, but with the new regulations all such difficulty is eradicated.

The candidate will simply inform his friend what his number is to be on the ballot, and the voters will look for their favorites either by number or by running down the column of family names, a much easier proceeding in the process of voting. There will be a rapid process with the new improvements, it is expected.

MAJORITY OF CITIES HAVE WAITING ROOMS FOR STREET RAILWAY PATRONS

Fifteen out of 25 New England cities have waiting rooms provided for street railway patrons, according to reports received by the chamber of commerce and summarized today for publication. In the cities where waiting rooms are maintained, buildings or quarters are either owned or leased by the railways. In some cities "lump sums" are paid for a five-year lease of buildings. In other places rentals are paid by the month or the year.

Cities which today have waiting rooms of any kind for street car users include Waterbury, Danbury, Newburyport, Braintree, Manchester, Norwalk, Lawrence, Haverhill, Taunton, New Bedford, Waltham, Beverly, Holyoke, Springfield, Woonsocket, Hartford and Fall River.

Cities heard from having no waiting rooms for street car patrons are Bridgeport, New Haven, Brockton, Northampton, Springfield and Lynn.

The matter of securing a waiting room in Lowell at some point convenient to Sturdevant square junction point is still being discussed by chamber officials and business men, and a further statement of plans and suggestions may be expected soon.

LOBAR PNEUMONIA PREVALENT HERE

Akron F. J. O'Hare of the board of health, stated this morning that many cases of lobar pneumonia have been reported at his office for the past week, and would like to warn the public in general, that the greatest care should be taken against exposure to this disease.

This is the time of year when pneumonia is most prevalent, and persons should be especially careful not only in regard to neglect of colds and unnecessary exposure but should avoid visiting those afflicted with the disease unless it is absolutely necessary. Anyone who develops a cold should seek medical relief at once.
